Czechs Accept Polish Ultimatum 3,000,000 PEOPLE ARE ADDED TO GERMAN REICH

RICH AREAS SURRENDERED

TESCHEN, Polish - Czechoslovakia Border, Oct. 1.—(UP)—The threat of war was lifted at the zero hour today when Czechoslovakia capitulated to a Polish ultimatum. The main force of Poland's army of 500,000 men was massed here and had expected to march to war at noon. The Polish government had given Czechoslovakia until that hour to make a satisfactory reply to its demand for the 500 square miles of lower Silesia, seized by Czechoslovakia in 1919 while Poland was at war with Russia.

Exert Pressure
A few hours before the zero hour, President Roosevelt of the United States, Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain of Great Britain and King Carol of Rumania had sent urgent telegrams to President Mozeicki, pleading with them to negotiate with the Czechs peacefully. Czechoslovakia's reply was first handed to Casimir Papez, Polish minister at Prague. He telephoned the news to Warsaw. The cabinet studied it hurriedly and found it satisfactory.

The deadline arrived and the army was poised tensely. A few minutes later the government announced in Warsaw that the Czechs had surrendered.

Near Deadline
The cabinet was in session at Warsaw at the moment, with President Mozeicki presiding, and the decision of peace or war in the balance.

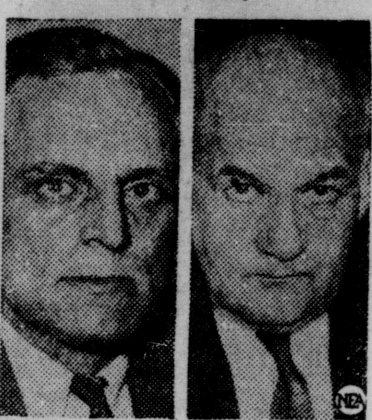

As the deadline approached, the Czech council of ministers had been in session at Prague since 10 a. m. The Czech capitulation was communicated at the last moment. The terms, announced in Warsaw, were that the Czechs would make a token withdrawal of troops from the disputed area this afternoon; that Polish troops would occupy the area by progressive stages beginning tomorrow and ending Oct. 10.

Later, an international commission will draw up a new frontier, after ceding to Poland the areas where Poles predominate among

Connecticut Escapes Storm

HARTFORD, Conn., Oct. 1.—(UP)—Connecticut was unscathed by the southern gale which swept northward last night, a survey showed today.

Residents were prepared for a blow that would strike the coastline at 40 miles an hour and diminish as it followed the path of last week's hurricane through the Connecticut valley.

The storm, however, after passing over Long Island, veered to the northeast and blew itself out to sea by way of Nantucket, Mass.

New London suffered a setback of two hours in communications when 1300 telephone wires were cut of order, but the damage was repaired. Other coastline sections, some of them almost leveled by the hurricane and tidal wave, reported only minor losses. There were no injuries or deaths.

Early West Point Graduate Dies

NEWPORT, R. I., Oct. 1.—(UP)—Brigadier General William Ennis, 97, believed the oldest graduate of the U. S. Military Academy at West Point, died yesterday.

General Ennis was graduated from West Point in 1864 and was immediately assigned to duty with the Union forces in the Civil War.

MAKE NEW NICKEL

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1.—(UP)—Mrs. Nellie Taylor Ross, director of the U. S. Mint today instructed the mints at Philadelphia, Denver, and San Francisco to proceed with the coining of the new Jefferson nickel.

The mints will produce 12,700,000 of the new coins before distribution will be undertaken, probably in November.

Bowron In Vice Drive

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 1.—(UP)—Mayor Fletcher Bowron today had the assurance of Chief of Police James E. Davis that he would produce "a 100 per cent law enforcement program" as long as he headed the police department.

The chief made his pledge to the mayor despite reports that Davis was slated to be replaced in Mayor Bowron's "purge" of the city hall of Former Mayor Frank L. Shaw's appointees.

Gets Orders
The mayor informed Chief Davis at their conference that the first action he wanted was for the police department to stop the operations of a group of persons representing themselves as emissaries of the "New Deal" city administration.

Mayor Bowron said he was informed that this group was making the rounds of gambling and vice centers and offering protection "for a price." The mayor gave Chief Davis the name of one suspect and

RONALD COLMAN AND NOTED ACTRESS WED

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 1.—(UP)—Ronald Colman, whom Hollywood regarded mistakenly for years as its most eligible bachelor, started in characteristic secrecy today on a honeymoon with Benita Hume, his second wife.

They were married last night by a police judge at Santa Barbara, so suddenly that most of their movie-making associates knew nothing of their plans. Colman even managed to keep secret his marriage license application.

He is 47 years old, perhaps Hollywood's oldest actor still playing swashbuckling, romantic roles. His latest film, still to be released nationally, cast him as Francois Villon, the vagabond poet of France, who fought for the honor of his country and finally won the lovely Frances Dee, lady-in-waiting to the queen.

Miss Hume, brown eyed, London born, and about to celebrate her 32nd birthday, has appeared

Predict End Of Cotton Strike

SHAFER, Cal., Oct. 1.—(UP)—Kern county cotton growers expressed confidence today that the cotton pickers who went on strike for increased wages would return to work at the existing wage scale.

The growers charged the strike did not represent the opinion of the strikers but of a "few trouble makers" they identified as "CIO agitators."

Meanwhile, work on three of the largest cotton ranches in Kern county was at a standstill. The walkout began on the huge West Camp-Lowe ranch six miles east of here where almost half of the strikers were employed. The pickers demanded they be paid 50 per 100 pounds instead of the current scale of 75 cents.

Warrant Issued In Murder Case

CHICAGO, Oct. 1.—(UP)—A fugitive warrant filed by city police today frustrated efforts of Edward J. Rollins, 37, sought by California authorities as a suspect in an eight year old Los Angeles murder, to obtain freedom on a writ of habeas corpus.

Felony court attaches indicated the warrant would be used to hold him until Los Angeles authorities can arrive with extradition papers. Counsel for Rollins said he would fight extradition. Rollins was arrested Wednesday on information a Los Angeles grand jury had returned murder indictments against him and seven other men a month ago on information uncovered during a cleaning and dyeing terrorism trial.

Masaryk Dead a Year—His Dream Dies, Too

This picture symbolizes the death of Czechoslovakia. Czech soldiers are placing wreaths on the tomb of Thomas Masaryk in Prague on the first anniversary of the death of the Czech state's father. And at almost that same moment the little democracy's fair weather friends, France and Britain, were casting her adrift by capitulating to the demands of Adolf Hitler. Thus Masaryk's lifelong dream of a progressive independent democracy for the ancient Czech nation dies just a year after the death of the dreamer.

DOZEN SOUGHT IN BOGUS CHECK PLOT

CHICAGO, Oct. 1.—(UP)—Police Lt. Thomas Kelly said today revelations of an expert engraver who elaborated on a confession that he had participated in a gang plot to flood scores of cities with $1,000,000 in fake checks and securities, will lead to arrest of a dozen persons in southern, eastern and midwestern states.

Berger Hanson, one of three men arrested last week in a raid on a "loop" printing shop, made the confession. Last night he elaborated on the gang's activities. Kelly said, and gave information warranting arrest of several "passers."

13 Jailed
Thirteen persons, including Hanson, already have been seized.

They include George (Bugs) Moran, prohibition era leader in Chicago, and Frankie Parker, airplane bootlegger, who are charged with having been leaders of the gang. Police seized them and eight other men last June after some members of the gang, acting in haste, had cashed forged American Express company travelers' checks in Chicago and Pittsburgh. Moran and Parker were indicted and will be tried October 27.

Hanson confessed last week that he had produced and helped distribute approximately $400,000 worth of fake railroad bonds and $42,000 worth of travelers' checks. Last night he gave details of the counterfeiting and admitted also he had manufactured $65,000 worth of liquor and cigaret tax stamps.

PRAGUE, Oct. 1.—(UP)—

Crowds of Czech refugees from Sudetenland arrived in the capital by train today as the German army crossed the border for its "token" occupation of the ceded land.

Reports from the frontier area were that the evacuation of the military, the civil administration and the Czech populace had been accomplished quietly, without incidents or disorders. Reliable sources here claimed that the Czech troops had been fully withdrawn from the agreed area in South Bohemia by midnight. Government officials, it was said, had abandoned the area earlier.

Thousands Bitter
Each train arriving from Sudetenland brought more Czechs to join the thousands in the capital who were angry or bitter over their government's agreement to the Munich four power accord.

Many were restless and paraded in small groups behind flag bearings in resentful undertones. They said they were friendly to the world, pressed by their enemies, deserted by their allies. Men as well as women stood about the market places weeping.

Gen. Ludvig Krejci, commander in chief, ordered the army to "stand firm." Blue coated and helmeted police watched closely for any excessive outburst. The government was determined that there should be no demonstrations which might be construed abroad as threatening.

Hate England, France
There were frequent angry shouts in the streets, but the prevailing mood seemed to be one in which Czechs struggled to control themselves, in accordance with Premier Jan Syrovsky's plea for calmness.

The feeling against Germany was most bitter, but Czechs today hated Great Britain and France almost as much for having signed away their border areas to Germany, Poland and Hungary in the interests of European peace.

Santa Ana P. O. Shows Big Gain

With a gain of $17,832 in postal receipts for the first nine months of this year over a similar period last year, Santa Ana postal receipts total of $148,208 is the highest in the history of the local office. Postmaster Frank R. Harwood announced today.

"Indicative of the growth and prosperity of Santa Ana is the fact that our total gain for nine months is at present more than $4,000 greater than the entire gain of last year," Harwood said.

Receipts for the month of September reached $15,511 for a gain of $762 over September of 1937. The third quarter of this year, July, August, and September, shows a gain of $6,985 over a similar period of last year with a total of $50,988.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1.—(UP)—

The White House said today that Sen. Smith, D., S. C., was refused a Presidential audience to discuss cotton conditions yesterday because it was physically impossible to squeeze in another appointment on the crowded White House calling list.

White House Secretary Stephen T. Early commented on the situation after Smith, opposed for re-nomination by Mr. Roosevelt, issued an angry statement charging the President had refused to receive him and other southern senators to discuss cotton loans.

Early said Smith telephoned the White House at 12:40 p. m. yesterday, requesting an immediate interview. At that moment, said Early, the President was in conference with Gov. P. F. Hill of the Farm Credit Administration.

As soon as Hill left the President met with Secretary of State Hull and conferred with him on the foreign situation until 2 p. m.

Fresno Chinese Present Pageant

FRESNO, Cal., Oct. 1.—(UP)—The width of a real ocean keeps them apart but Fresno Chinese will prove tonight they have not forgotten their countrymen in war bound China.

Last night, to the music of the Orient, they presented a colorful pageant of the Far East on the streets of Fresno, to raise funds for the victims of the Sino-Japanese hostilities.

Tonight, to the music of the Occident, they present a grand ball in the Fresno memorial auditorium as the closing event to the Fresno county Rice Bowl festival, Anna May Wong, Chinese movie actress, will be honored guest.

Freedom Brief For Convict

FLORENCE, Ariz., Oct. 1.—(UP)—Escape from the Arizona state prison brought only brief freedom today for Roy Saltzman, 21, formerly of Chicago, who was sentenced last November to serve two to three years in the penitentiary for larceny.

Saltzman fled from the prison garden, where he was employed as an outside trusty. He was retaken a few hours later by a posse of guards near a diversion dam 12 miles east of here.

Mine Workers End Strike

CANANEA, Sonora, Mex., Oct. 1.—(UP)—Settlement of a strike involving 800 workers of the Cananea Consolidated Copper company mine, a subsidiary of Anaconda, was announced here today by company representatives and union officers.

The miners, who walked off their jobs last Sept. 14, will return to work Monday, the announcement said.

BY WEBB MILLER

WITH THE GERMAN ARMY IN THE FIELD, Oct. 1.—(UP)—Five grey-green columns of German troops poured across the Czechoslovak frontier this afternoon on a 20-mile front.

Thus began the dismemberment of Czechoslovakia and the addition of some 3,000,000 people to Adolf Hitler's domain.

The uniforms, the guns, the mechanized engines of war were in contrast to the festivity of the scene. Flowers thrown by the cheering German inhabitants pelted the troops.

Cross at Deadline

The first contingent crossed the frontier at exactly 2 p. m., the deadline which had been set. Col. Gen. Wilhelm Joseph Franz Ritter Von Leeb was in command of the occupied area, which is on the southwestern border north of Linz, Austria.

Czech troops and police had withdrawn at 6 p. m. yesterday. The population of the area which I covered wildly welcomed the troops and displayed Nazi flags, which had been hidden, a few minutes after the soldiers appeared.

I entered the Sudeten territory with Gen. Hartmann's column on the extreme left of the area occupied today. Tens of thousands of other troops were camped in the Bavarian forest, ready to advance on the next phase of the occupation tomorrow. By October 10, all but the areas to be decided by plebiscite will be in German hands, as decided by the four powers at Munich yesterday morning.

I witnessed the entry as the only United States correspondent with Hartmann's column as it crossed the tiny frontier post northeast of Freyung.

One of my companions was the Italian correspondent Luigi Tomasselli of the newspaper Corriere Della Sera, who marched into Adowa on the same day I did in the Ethiopian war.

New Forts
Tonight Czech troops and Germans faced one another only 100 yards apart on opposite sides of the river Moldau. The Czechs had not had time to withdraw and still were holding a new line of fortifications on the north bank of the river.

I heard that the Czechs had blown up a bridge across the Moldau and went to investigate. The bridge had not been blown up but was held by Czech troops.

At first they were suspicious, but on learning that their visitor was from the United States, permitted me to cross the bridge to their headquarters.

Would Rather Fight
"We are withdrawing now under orders but we would rather fight."

About 100 men were there, dressed in the uniforms copied from the American war-time uniform. They

Chief Of British Navy Quits; Protests Policy

LONDON, Oct. 1.—(UP)—Alfred Duff Cooper, first lord of the admiralty, resigned today, explaining that he disagreed with Britain's foreign policy.

In a letter to Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain, Duff Cooper wrote:

"I profoundly distrust the foreign policy which the government is pursuing and seems likely to continue to pursue."

Repercussions
Reliable sources said the resignation would not cause a cabinet crisis and that a successor would be appointed in a few days.

The resignation came as a jarring note in the midst of unprecedented national rejoicing over the narrow escape from war provided by the Munich agreement.

The resignation stirred political and financial circles deeply because of its implications.

As head of the navy, Duff Cooper held one of the key cabinet posts for defense—comparatively young—he is 45—Duff Cooper is the reverse of a pacifist. Before his present post he was war secretary and clamored insistently on greater preparations against war.

He now has joined Anthony Eden, who resigned as foreign secretary because he disagreed with the government's conciliatory policy towards the dictatorships.

A considerable section of public opinion shares their views and a lively row is in prospect when parliament resumes on Monday.

The resignation was interpreted as an indication that influential opinion, even among conservatives, is divided over the eventual outcome of the Munich pact.

Storms Halt Spanish War

HENDAY, Franco-Spanish Frontier, Oct. 1.—(UP)—Torrential rains sweeping down upon most of Spain forced suspension of all military activities except in the air today. Republican quarters said their airplanes along the southern front had bombed Nationalist garisons at Castuera and Elin, and had attacked the arms factory at Toledo.

A Nationalist airplane bombed the Catalan village of Cornella dropping several high explosive and incendiary bombs. Three persons were killed and six wounded. Three houses were destroyed.

Hunting on the Harvey Peterson ranch northeast of Eureka, Mrs. Cariker shot at a deer as it ran down a hill. One of her shots struck her husband, who was in the brush on the hill.

NEW FEATURE WRITER FOR THE REGISTER LIKENED TO ROGERS

If the readers of The Register have not been reading the feature that runs every Saturday on the editorial page over the signature of "Judd," undoubtedly they have been missing a very good feature, according to those who have been following it.

It has so impressed many of the readers as to its qualifications for dry wit and sound principles that the publishers of The Register have decided to use this feature in the other newspapers which they publish.

They are of the opinion that here is a contributor who is on a par with Will Rogers as to humor and philosophy; that the people are crying for those who can create a smile and at the same time put over a sound moral principle. For this reason, the publishers suggest that readers of The Register in Orange County read this feature a few Saturdays and if it meets with their approbation and they think it would Judd when he reads it.

HIGH BUILDING MARK IS NEAR

That Santa Ana building permit totals for this year will reach the $1,000,000 mark within a few days was virtually assured today as tabulation of monthly totals revealed that only $22,284 was needed for the coveted seven digit figure.

The September total of $157,452 from 126 permits issued by Building Inspector Harold Rasmussen revealed the year's total to $976,716.

Chiefly responsible for the $48,310 gain in September of this year over September of 1937 was the construction of 30 new residences with a total valuation of $124,700. Last September the total was $99,142 as compared with $137,452 for the month just closed.

Building contractors and others interested in the building trade point with considerable pride to the high building permit average during 1938. This year, from the permits, the average permit was $1241 as compared with an average of $862 in 1937. Total evaluation for the first nine months of 1937 was $1,224,631.

French, Nazis May Sign Pact

Well informed quarters suggested that heavy bombing airplanes, heavy artillery and poison gas—the three most terrible weapons of modern warfare—most probably would be the principal subject for limitation talk.

Nazi Cheer

A million Germans, massed in the streets and in the broad Wilhelmplatz before Hitler's chancellery, cheered and sang in jubilation today as the Fuehrer returned from his Munich triumph.

"He had annexed Sudetenland to the German Reich and he had concluded a historic direct agreement with Chamberlain."

He had brought 3,500,000 more Germans into the greater Germany, after the 7,500,000 he brought in with Austria a little more than six months ago.

He had defied the world. New, supplementing the British-German declaration of unending friendship, there was the promise of a French-German one, and of negotiation to put a brake on the gigantic armaments race which was driving nations toward economic ruin and present of the constant threat of a merciless mass war.

Conqueror

It was no wonder that Hitler's reception today was that of a conqueror, that it eclipsed in popular interest the march of the German army of occupation into Sudetenland.

German authorities forbade any unauthorized persons to enter Sudetenland. Only persons who lived in the frontier district, or returned to their homes, may enter the occupied areas without special permission of the state police.

It was announced that the German railroad would take over all Czechoslovak state railroads in occupied territory immediately after the troop occupation.

Welcomed

The Fuehrer, who traveled overnight by railroad from Munich where he signed the four power Spieglein agreement and with Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain agreed that Germany and Britain must never fight each other again.

He arrived at the Anhalter station at 10:40 a. m. to find the biggest crowd massed to welcome him to his capital. On the platform, Field Marshal Hermann Goering and Dr. Paul Joseph Goebbels, propaganda minister, Nazis Nos. 2 and 3—were first to shake hands with him. Then came Gen. Walter von Brauchitsch, commander in chief of the army, and Gen. Wilhelm Keitel, chief of the high command of the armed forces.

"Eternal Youth" Proponent Hit

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1.—(UP)—The federal trade commission today told Edwin J. Dingle of Los Angeles to stop advertising "a perfect mind in a perfect body."

Dingle, the commission charged, operates the institute of mental physics and advertises that he has studied under the "masters of the art" and can teach, through his courses, how to conquer old age.

Purchasers cannot, as respondent Dingle allegedly advertises, acquire heretofore unrevealed knowledge which will enable them to enjoy unending youth of body and mind and which will teach any man how to become strong and keep young," the commission said.

Dr. Caldecott To Speak At Church

Dr. Caldecott, who is minister of the Los Angeles Unitarian church, will address the congregation at the tables following the supper, at which time representatives of various candidates for governor will be heard.

The Town Meeting audience has been invited to join in the supper, which precedes the forum session, where Dr. Caldecott also will speak.

Ronald Colman Weds Actress

In a long series of movies, but seldom in the news. Last headlines about her told how—two years ago—she rebelled against the plans of MGM studios to have her do a closeup with a chimpanzee. She said she was scared of the beast and wouldn't put her arms around it, salary or not.

When Colman came to Hollywood from England after the World War and burst into picture prominence with such films as "The White Sister," "The Winning of Barbara Worth" and others, he got more invitations to parties, probably than any other actor. The screen sirens looked upon him as the ideal prospect for a husband: suave, handsome and still a bachelor.

He turned down all the party bids. Year in and year out he lived alone, except for his six dogs, and paid no attention to Hollywood except when he was before the cameras. That still did not discourage those women who sighed whenever they caught a glimpse of him.

This went on for nearly a decade and then, in 1934, London dispatches reported that his wife, Thelma Raye had filed suit for divorce.

Charge Politics In R. R. Wage Cuts

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1.—(UP)—Tom Davis, counsel for the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, told President Roosevelt's fact finding commission today that the demand for a 15 per cent railroad wage cut was part of a "conspiracy to cut the wages of every worker in the land."

Davis charged the carriers demand was part of a plot to delay recovery and discredit the Roosevelt administration.

Davis contended that a wage cut would not solve the railroad's problems. He said these problems would remain if the workers took a 50 per cent cut.

$5 BILL FOUND GOOD

Two local boys, 19 and 20 years old, respectively, had the last laugh yesterday afternoon when police were asked to question them after they presented a $5 bill at a local drug store and acted in a suspicious manner. Police were asked to determine whether or not the bill was counterfeit. Three banks were called upon to investigate. All reported the bill genuine and the boys were released.

1 OR 3 RELEASED IN NEGLECT CASES

Three men were arrested yesterday on charges of failure to support their minor children but today one of them was released on order of Judge Kenneth Morrison in Santa Ana justice court.

The one released is Ray Nielsen, 31, brought here and booked at county jail last night from San Francisco by Deputy Sheriff Steve Duhart and Fred Humiston. Nielsen plans to rejoin his family and give them support. He was arrested on a warrant by San Francisco police.

Pleads Not Guilty

Martin Gonzales, 32, Bear Creek, Merced county, brought here by the same officers on the same trip, pleaded not guilty before Judge Morrison today and was re-jailed pending preliminary hearing Tuesday at 9 a. m. He failed to make bail of $500. His arrest was made by Merced county sheriff's officers on a warrant.

Charles Ewing, Los Angeles, was returned yesterday from Los Angeles city jail to face his non-support charge. Arraigned in Fullerton justice court, Ewing was released on his own recognizance pending preliminary hearing.

3 Million Added To Nazi Reich

When we entered the town, we passed through a crude welcoming arch erected during the night. It was merely a round wooden frame covered with pine branches.

Hundreds of people lined the main street. When the head of the column, consisting of two heavy, 8-wheeled armored cars, came along the crowd burst into wild cheers, gave the Nazi salute and threw flowers at the laughing drivers.

Then the band marched in at the head of a column of infantry. Gen. Hartmann and his staff, on horseback, entered at 3:05 p. m. They took their position in the main square and reviewed the column.

A proclamation to the Sudeten Germans by Gen. Von Leeb was posted. It began:

"The hour of freedom has come." By the time we entered Kuschwarda, the townspeople already had pasted paper over the Czech signs.

This story was not seen by any German official and was telephoned direct to Berlin and thence to London.

I saw no evidence beyond the Moldau, where the Czechs were still holding their fortifications, that they had destroyed anything. The place where we entered Czechoslovakia is Lemnta, on the Moldau river. The German troops had spent a sleepless and uncomfortable night in pelting rain, camped in the Bavarian pine forest.

Nevertheless they looked sly and snarled when they crossed the border. Some of the columns entered at an altitude of 2,500 feet in mountainous country.

As a correspondent, I have been with the armies of eight countries but have never seen an army perform with such efficient, machine-like precision.

The 3,000 men of Gen. Hartmann's column represented every branch of the service, from anti-tank guns, machine guns, the new German basic 4-inch artillery, armored cars, cavalry and infantry.

UAW Threatens Buick Strike

PLANT, Mich., Oct. 1.—(UP)—The United Automobile Workers Union will hold a strike vote at 2 p. m. today among employees of the Buick division of General Motors Corporation.

With Buick production on 1939 models operating at near capacity, some 7000 men are employed. The union was not established until 1936 and the employees were UAW members.

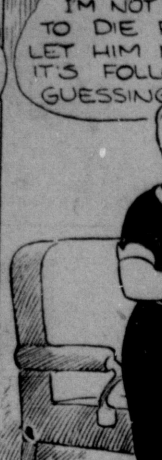

Jack Little, president of the UAW local No. 156, said the strike vote was approved because the Buick management failed to negotiate labor differences. Among them were wage cuts, speed up and seniority violations.

SAYS "DOUBLE CROSS" CHARGE STARTED STURZENACKER QUIZ

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 1.—(UP)—The "tidelands oil scandal" now being investigated by the state personnel board was stirred up because a low paid draftsman believed he was being "double crossed" by his superiors, it was revealed in testimony on file today.

The story was told by Bert McAtee, former draftsman in the state division of public lands office, at a hearing being held by the personnel board into charges brought against Carl B. Sturzenacker, chief of the division, and Arthur H. Alexander, an aide.

Sturzenacker and Alexander are accused of using their offices to file on a million dollars worth of oil lands.

McAtee said that long before the asserted Sturzenacker-Alexander deal, he had been planning to file on some oil property in the Wilmington-Long Beach tideland pool. "When I told Alexander that Midgley (J. M. Midgley, a fellow draftsman) and I were going to file, he said we would be fired if we did."

Later Alexander told us of a plan to form a company, including himself, Sturzenacker, Midgley, myself and others to file against the tidal pool in front of the Ford Motor Company property.

"On Nov. 18, 1937, we all went down to post our claims. I heard Sturzenacker tell Alexander to keep away from a posting."

"I resigned next day and never assigned my filings back to the state."

McAtee then told how he had accused Sturzenacker of "double crossing" him when he assertedly found previous filings against the tidal claims.

"Sturzenacker had assured me there would be no other filings on my claim, but I found court records indicating previous filings. Then I accused Sturzenacker of the pre-dating applications at the Sacramento office."

Deputy Attorney General L. G. Campbell denied discussing the Long Beach tidal filings with Sturzenacker. A letter signed by Sturzenacker and addressed to Campbell had implied the deputy was familiar with the plan and that the filings were on the state's behalf to protect its interests.

The hearing was recessed until Oct. 17.

ordered him to apprehend the others.

A new police squad was organized, apparently at the request of the mayor, to investigate complaints on vice and gambling which came through the mayor's office.

The squad is headed by Lieut. Luke Lane of the metropolitan squad. The group will supplement the work of the regular vice squad and will work in co-operation with the vice squad, the mayor's office and the chief.

Mayor Bowron's first week in office saw a renewed police drive against vice and gambling in which more than 100 men and women were arrested. The mayor's comment on the raids was that he wanted the police to get the "high-crimes" as well as the small-time gamblers.

Four Injured In Auto Crash

NAPA, Calif., Oct. 1.—(UP)—Four persons were in a hospital here today, one critically injured, following a violent crash involving three automobiles on the Napa-Santa Helena highway last night.

Morris Fetzter, Santa Rosa, was reported recovering from a severe cut and bruises. B. W. Prince, 20, of Yountville, sustained leg fractures, his wife, Mrs. Pauline Prince, 20, was injured around the head and Marian Manny, 17, Yountville, suffered bad gashes.

Police said Fetzter's car struck that of Dr. Stanley Deakin, of the Napa state hospital, as Deakin drove onto the highway. The Prince car tangled in the wreck and Fetzter's car caught fire.

Voters Approve Huge PWA Offer

BRAWLEY, Calif., Oct. 1.—(UP)—A PWA offer to loan and grant $1,000,000 to extend electric power facilities bore the overwhelming approval today of the Imperial Irrigation District. Members voted at yesterday's election: yes 6091; no 293.

The district would be loaned $1,045,000 and granted $855,000 outright. The district, serving the entire Imperial Valley, built 600 miles of rural lines and is connecting the various cities and adding to the Brawley diesel power plant.

With the PWA funds two hydro-electric plants will be built on the All American canal.

Mixing Bowl

BY ANN MEREDITH

Hot tasty sandwiches with pickles, a good dessert and coffee provide an attractive meal for Sunday supper, or the evening you have your neighbors in for bridge.

A toasted sandwich made with fresh crab meat is tops in supper dishes. For four you'll need a little better than half a pound of flaked crab meat, canned or fresh. Season it with salt, pepper, a dash of lemon juice and a little bit of mustard flavored mayonnaise. Butter thin slices of bread, spread a thick layer of crab between slices and toast quickly. Spread the top side with butter and serve on a hot plate with a garnish of cole slaw in a lettuce leaf, tomato slices or pickles flanking the sandwich.

TODAY'S RECIPES

Cantaloupe Jam

2 large or 4 small yellow-meated cantaloupes

1 lemon and 1 orange, quartered and sliced with peel

Sugar in equal quantities by measure.

Peel the melons, remove seeds and cut in thin slices. Combine with the sliced lemon and orange and weigh, allowing same weight of sugar. If you measure the fruits, the same amount of sugar for the loose measure would make too sweet a jam, so, change the recipe directions and use 2-3 cup sugar to each cup of fruit, measured as it can be packed into a cup.

Bring the jam to a slow boil, stirring often, then reduce the heat and simmer until thick and clear. Seal in small jars.

Meat Loaf for Sunday Dinner

Have ground together:

2 pounds lean beef and 2 pounds lean pork

Add:

2 cups soft bread crumbs

1-1/2 cups milk beaten with 2 eggs

1 large onion ground

Few leaves of sage crushed

1 teaspoon salt, some pepper, paprika and cayenne (a good pinch).

Put the meat in a big bowl or pan, add all other ingredients, and mix, using your hands. When the meat is in a pliable mass, mound it in a big casserole and cover top with this mixture:

Grind 2 onions, 2 green peppers and 3 stalks of celery. Mix with 1-3 cup catsup, a dash of steak sauce and a can of tomato soup.

Spread this sauce over the meat loaf, dot with butter and bake 2 hours in a slow oven, basting top of beef with liquid. Serve meat loaf from the casserole, using the rich sauce as gravy.

Apple Salad to Serve With Meat Loaf or Roast Pork

Peel one apple for each serving, remove core and cut into thin slices. Toss with a little lemon juice and a dash of salt. Serve with meat loaf or roast pork.

Have ready a thin hot syrup, slightly thickened with carmine fruit coloring. Steam apple slices in syrup until barely tender. Skim out and chill. Make a sliced celery and walnut filling, mixed with mayonnaise, stuff apples, and garnish with lettuce or cress.

FDR Too Busy For Conclave

At 2 p. m. Early noted, the cabinet met with the President and was in session until 4:20 p. m. after which Mr. Roosevelt met with three individual cabinet members.

At no time during the afternoon, Early said, could the President have met with the Smith group unless the cabinet meeting had been adjourned.

The White House said that when Smith's request was received they asked agriculture experts to get in touch with the senator and give him all the assistance possible.

There were four other Democratic Senators who, with Smith, sought the Presidential audience. They were Sens. George D. Go, who also won re-nomination over the expressed of Mr. Roosevelt; Harrison and Bilbo of Mississippi, and Thomas of Oklahoma. After the White House allegedly had refused the appointment, Smith told these Senators and the group of southern cotton farmers in an informal address:

"I thought we were Senators representing sovereign states, but perhaps this isn't a democracy any more."

Plans Plebiscite

According to the terms, Polish troops will occupy two districts: the Czech side of Teschen and Gryzdzad. A plebiscite will be held later in the Frydek district, also claimed by Poland.

A few minutes after details of the agreement were sent to military headquarters here from Warsaw, a band of Polish officers crossed the border and held a conference with Czech army officers. They discussed the time and details of when Polish troops were to take over the Czech part of the city.

Satisfied

The government issued a communique in Warsaw announcing that after the Teschen occupation was completed it would have no further demands on Czechoslovakia and would join other nations in guaranteeing her new frontiers. It expressed itself as well satisfied with the settlement, adding that 20 years of conflict had now ceased.

The Czech reply to Poland said Czechoslovakia will release all soldiers of Polish nationality in the Czech army and all political prisoners of Polish nationality.

CLEARED IN CRASH

Further checkup on the accident in which a car ran through a fence at the Oceanview school last week-end today had led to the clearing of Charles W. Pidgeon, Long Beach, of responsibility for the accident, officials said. The wrong license number of a car had been obtained following the smashing of the fence and Pidgeon proved his innocence.

Hold Revival

Miss Gladys Pearson, left, and Margaret Plunkett, well-known evangelists, who have been conducting services at the Full Gospel Assembly, 1600 West Third street, since last Sunday, will continue the meetings throughout next week, each evening at 7:30 except Saturday.

Anderson Joins Sales Department

Announcement was made today by L. D. Coffing, Dodge and Plymouth Distributor, 311 East 5th street, that Walde (Andy) Anderson is now associated with the company as salesman in the new car department.

Anderson who has been affiliated with the automotive industry in Santa Ana as dealer and salesman during the past 10 years stated that his association with the Coffing company was brought about through enthusiasm for the 1939 Dodge Luxury Liner as viewed in Los Angeles last Wednesday.

Methodists Will Hear WCTU Head

An illustrated lecture on the subject, "The Shadow on the Shield," will be delivered by Mrs. Craven Wheeler, state president of the W. C. T. U., at a meeting in the First Methodist church next Wednesday at 7:30. It was announced today. The meeting, held in the interest of civic righteousness, will be sponsored by the Ministerial Association of Santa Ana and the Federated Missionary societies. Admission is free and the public is invited.

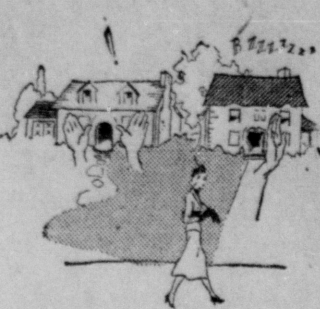

Mrs. Wheeler will address the Woman's Home Missionary society of the Methodist church at its meeting Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock on the subject, "The Flood Behind the Dam."

ORANGE COUNTY BUILDING, REMODELING NEWS

THE HOME DECORATOR

By ERNEST W. GOULD
Gossipy Houses

Don't let this happen to your home. There are so many things you can do to brighten your castle, both inside and out.

For one thing, it's of primary importance to keep your house well painted inside and out. Good paint makes your home beautiful and much more valuable. For exterior painting and large interior surfaces, it is wise to employ a good contracting painter. But there are innumerable smaller surfaces you yourself may keep painted up in excellent condition . . . woodwork, furniture, floors and smaller wall areas.

In order to be downright complimentary about you, your house must be clean and bright, spick and span. If you can, give it that new dress of paint inside and out. If you can't do that, scrub the living daylight out of it. Make it as spotless as a little boy on a Sunday morning.

Mend that loose picket in the fence and the sagging rail on the porch. Scrub your window blinds and repaint them. Be as harsh in judging that home of yours as your worst enemy would be.

It isn't a matter of going out and refurbishing your house and making a lot of expensive alterations. It just means doing absolutely the best you can with what you have.

OBJECTIONS TO SINGLE TAX CITED BY REALTY BOARD HEAD

BY RAY GOODCELL

President of the Santa Ana Realty Board

"Why didn't somebody tell me these things?" will be the plaintive cry of the people of this state if the sales tax is voted out on November 8 and they find themselves holding the sack, said sack containing a sizzling-hot single tax law they failed to realize was an important part of the bill they voted for.

In the bill you may find this: single tax slightly undercovered, screened, behind the sales tax, but there it is as usual, that little old single tax we have to worry with every two years, more or less. It's always with us here in California. They say it's because some big-hearted manufacturer left a trust fund to commemorate Henry George and his pet tax theory. But why do they have to pick on us?

Seen As Good Friend

In the first place, there is no good reason to dispense with the sales tax. It's been a mighty good friend to the youth of the country and to the educators and many others in providing adequate funds for maintenance of schools, etc., during a long drawn-out depression. It has helped to balance the state budget and make it possible for us to pay as we go. Delinquent land taxes might not have been as readily collectable. And frankly, isn't it a privilege to have a worthy cause as education even though we might not own a piece of land?

Of course, single tax must have its merits. There is some good in almost everything, but in this case it looks as though the cure is worse than the disease. Even if it were voted in and should ultimately work, the period of readjustment would be more than we could take, especially after having traveled so many years with the broke half on, and dragging a load of taxes heavy enough even to retard the progress of real estate.

Possible Confiscation
If you think this single tax law

'FLY-BY-NIGHT' ROOFERS HIT BY S. A. MERCHANT

Reasonable precautions would have saved a local resident, who fell prey last week to roofing racketeers from being fleeced. Paul Racobs, of the Orange County Weather-Proofing company declared here today, warning other home owners to beware of the fly-by-night roofer.

The victimized resident permitted a bogus roofing company to apply a roof on his residence, supposedly without charge.

Really Is Contract
A paper he signed under the impression it gave the company the right to use the roof for demonstration purposes turned out to be a roofing sale contract.

"Home owners should beware of the roofing salesman who carries his office in his hat," said Racobs. "These men travel from town to town, selling new roofs or siding on impossible guarantees, collecting their money, and then vanishing into thin air, leaving the purchaser with no recourse when shoddy materials fail."

"A sign of the fly-by-night roofer," continued Racobs, "is the often startling lowness of the price he quotes. Such quotations should be greeted with suspicion, not rejoicing. Not hesitant about using makeshift methods and materials, the fly-by-night roofer will quote any price as long as he can collect his money, and then skip town."

Seek Fair Dealing

"A good roof should last anywhere from ten to 15 or 25 years," said Racobs. Such a roof applied by a reputable contractor, is far cheaper in dollars and cents as well as in freedom from annoyance, than any roof put on by a fly-by-nighter, no matter how low the original cost. There are roofing companies who have built up a reputation for fair dealing and good workmanship," Racobs declared. "Their offices are here and the men who run the companies live among us. These are the companies who represent the roofing industry in our community. By paying more attention to the roofing firm than of the prices offered by quack salesmen, the home owner will avoid the possibility of being fleeced."

CONVENTION TO OPEN NOV. 18

The men who build most of California's homes will convene next month in Los Angeles for their state convention. Fifteen hundred members of the Building Contractors' association of Southern California, from Fresno to El Centro, will assemble November 18 and 19 at the Baltimore hotel for sessions at which their accomplishments will be reviewed and their new aims and objectives outlined for another year.

Preparing Program
Led by Col. William H. Evans, president of the state organization and acting president of the national association, committees are preparing a program that will bring to the convention nationally-known figures in the building world, high dignitaries from Washington, D.C., technical experts, representatives of banks and lending institutions, business leaders, and a host of members from the association's 15 chapters.

Negotiations are under way to get as speakers such men as Stewart McDonald, FHA administrator; A. P. Gianinni, president, Bank of America; Nathan Strauss, to completely insulate every dwelling in the cities of Atlanta, Ga., Seattle, Wash., Kansas City, Mo., or Buffalo, N. Y. If loaded into motor trucks, it would form a caravan extending from St. Louis, Mo., to within a few miles of Dallas, Tex., a distance of 690 miles, and if made into a continuous bat, four inches thick and 14 inches wide, it would reach 14 times around the earth at the equator, a total distance of 355,000 miles.

The present revival of residential construction, which during the month of May, 1938, started to within one and a half per cent of the corresponding 1937 total, indicates that mineral wool production for this year will rival the record-breaking production of 1937.

This represents the annual production of the 25 leading manufacturers in the industry, according to Wharton Clay, secretary of the mineral wool association. It comprises mineral wool bats, strip wool, loose fill, and nodulated wool—four general types that meet every home insulating need. The 12-month period also showed an increasing use of mineral wool insulation in industrial ovens, boilers, drying and conditioning rooms where exceptionally efficient and fire proof insulation is required.

It is difficult to appreciate the magnitude of this production. It represents enough of the material

Mrs. Colligan at her home in Moline, Ill.

LOCAL LUMBER MAN TELLS HOW WOMAN WON EDUCATIONAL TEST

"My social security number is not recorded in Washington, but I have one. It is the number on the front door of my very own home."

These sentiments expressed in a letter on "what the word 'home' means to me" brought Mrs. Patrick J. Colligan, of Moline, Illinois, a check for $10,000.00, first prize in the Johns-Manville "Better Homes for a Better America" contest, it was announced today by Wilbur Barr of the Barr Lumber Company.

Many Entered Here

Many residents of this area, according to Barr, entered the contest which attracted wide attention both in the United States and in Canada. "The many thousands of letters received from home-owners and prospective home builders," Barr declared, "show conclusively that the American public still has not only a deep and sentimental attachment for home, but believes in the home as a foundation for, and bulwark of, individual and national security."

First-prize winner Mrs. Colligan, who is the mother of four children, will celebrate her 44th wedding anniversary during the coming year.

State and national legislative programs will be laid out and plans completed for the extension of association work to other coast states by 1939. Business sessions will be held on November 18.

An auto caravan trip through the principal sub-division developments of the metropolitan Los Angeles area is planned for the following day, and entertainment and fun will be mixed with the serious business of the convention. Special motion pictures, luncheon, and a final "jamboree" are being scheduled. An attendance of 1200 is expected.

Dolls are the oldest toys known. They have been used in all lands from the earliest times. One found in an Egyptian tomb is estimated to be at least 4000 years old.

Forty-five per cent of all motorists injured in auto accidents are injured by flying glass, according to statistics.

Another conversation in 1940:

"It's costing them plenty"

So will the smart people, who are building this year, speak of the homes that will go up later. Those who build in '38 are getting more value for their dollar than they did in 1926, or will in 1939 or 1940.

With the demand for homes mounting, it's only a matter of time before that demand will drive building costs a lot higher.

CHURCHES

of SANTA ANA

Rev. W. C. Parham was born in Galena, Kansas, and was the son of the late Rev. and Mrs. Chas. F. Parham, both ministers and founders of the Apostolic Movement, which began in Topeka, Kansas in 1900. Rev. Chas. F. Parham traveled extensively throughout Canada and America, preaching and establishing churches, and Rev. W. C. Parham traveled with him as his song leader and business manager. This he did for a number of years, until he met Rev. Alice Ann Wilson, who was then pastoring a Four-Square church in Pomona. They were married in the year of 1925, and have been traveling in Evangelistic work and pastoring churches since that time.

FOURSQUARE CHURCH

Fairview and So. Sycamore Sts.

Rev. Alice Ann Parham was born in Canada, and at the tender age of thirteen was called into her life's work. She was converted that year, and began to work in the church. In the year of 1918 she was called the Girl Evangelist of Canada, and traveled continually in evangelistic work. She came to the U. S. A. in 1920 and joined the Four-Square movement in 1923, was the first pastor to be ordained at the Angelus Temple, Los Angeles and incidentally Santa Ana was Mrs. McPherson's first church to be established. Mrs. Parham is the daughter of Mrs. Alice Ann Wilson, who was a composer and writer of songs and poetry in Canada for years.

SUMMER of 1924 found several groups of young people attending Bible School in a tent located at Fairview and Sycamore streets in Santa Ana. So enthusiastic and interested did these groups become that in the following year of 1925 a Tabernacle was erected in the same location. In 1929 the church was remodeled, redecorated and improved in many ways under the supervision of Reverend W. C. and Alice Ann Parham. In 1936 still more improvements consisting of repainting, new drapes, the Crusader room remodeled and redecorated in blue and white; the Prayer room, church office, a new Hammond Electric Organ, presented to the church by Mrs. S. J. Swanson, a new Four Square neon sign all were added to the value and improvement for the comfort of the congregations. These later improvements were also under the supervision of the Reverend W. C. and Alice Ann Parham. The structure, 100 feet long by 90 feet in width seats a group of 750. New shrubbery and plants surrounding the building complete the attractiveness and dignity of the edifice. Three months ago a Radio Program was inaugurated as a regular feature and has met with great acceptance by the radio audience. Throughout its history this church has been most fortunate in its splendid pastors who have filled the pulpit. Mrs. McPherson has personally conducted night services from time to time which have been enthusiastically received by large congregations. The present pastors, Reverend W. C. and Alice Ann Parham first came to the Santa Ana church in 1929. In 1932 they left to enter active work in Angelus Temple, Los Angeles. Returning to Santa Ana in 1936 they have both been most active and are extremely appreciated by members and friends in Santa Ana.

Children's Church

The Children's Church department is also one of interest. Mrs. C. D. Lindsey is their Pastor, and conducts children's church each Saturday afternoon at 2 p. m. They have drawing, sewing, Bible study and always a treat for the children. This summer, Rev. Alice Ann Parham conducted a Daily Vacation Bible school, four mornings a week and one hundred and four children from the ages of 5 to 15 attended for one month. Splendid closing exercises were conducted and the children presented a lovely musical program and put on display six tables of their craft work and book work. The children's church is growing very rapidly in popularity and numbers.

The Crusaders

The Young people's movement, which is called the crusader organization and it is a thriving movement. The president being Mr. John Haskell. Each month the Crusaders of every Four-Square Church in Orange county meet together for a great Crusader rally, they alternate in going to the different churches, using the alphabet system and they have a special outside speaker and the largest Crusader delegation takes home the banner, which is quite a joy to the different bands. Mr. Clarence Potter is the Orange County Crusader president, who is over all other presidents and is always planning something interesting to keep all the young people together, and a sweet fellowship existing.

Sunday School

The Sunday school department is of great importance and has a competent Superintendent in Mr. Glen Stearns, who is also a student in the Angelus Temple Bible school. Each month a new plan is thought out to induce and attract both the young and old to the Sunday school. There are interesting contests continually going on, and the plan in session now is the giving out of a blue button to every member. The button is to be worn thirteen consecutive Sundays, is then returned for a bronze one which is to be worn the same number of Sundays. Each time a button is given out it is better than the one they turn in, until in time they will receive a button with a diamond in it, and this is proving to be a great inducement to everyone to attend Sunday school.

The Orchestra

The Orchestra has grown from about 20 to 40 pieces, under the direction of Rev. Howard Green, of Anaheim, and every few months a lovely orchestra concert is presented, three months ago one was given to a splendid audience, and another one is to be presented on the 7th of October which will undoubtedly pack the church, the offering is then given to the orchestra for music and more instruments. Rev. Green also believes in social times for young people, and always the home of Mrs. Frank Grisett in Tustin is open for ice cream parties and social gatherings for young people.

This is the second of a series of pages featuring "CHURCHES OF SANTA ANA" that will appear in the Santa Ana Register each Saturday. Every Saturday the entire page will be devoted to one church Every church in Santa Ana will appear in this series in subsequent issues of the Santa Ana Register. The series will be devoted to pertinent facts of interest to everyone.

PASSES WIN; SAINTS LOSE ON 'EM

TAKE MAKES LONE TALLY OF LISTLESS GAME

They were calling Santa Ana's Jaysee a lucky football team to-day, and maybe they were right, at that.

The Dons turned in a routine 6-0 victory over Los Angeles City college at the Municipal Bowl last night, but they got all the breaks and Los Angeles' errors of commission and omission gave Santa Ana enough chances to make six touchdowns and to win half a dozen ordinary games.

It was a listless ball game—despite the proximity of the score—and most of the 5000 spectators agreed that not in several years had they watched one of Coach Bill Cook's clubs flounder so badly near the goal-line.

For only one minute did the Santa Anas look the part of a dangerous football team. And that was when Lynn Arnett, injured Don quarter, came into the game and "threw a touchdown pass to Co-Captain Larry Timken from a "spread play" much to the disgust of a stubborn but colorless Los Angeles team.

Cubs Fumble Game Away
The story was a game of fumbles—with Los Angeles doing all the fumbling and the Dons doing all the recovering, but failing to take advantage of the breaks.

The Dons got in position for their lone touchdown, when stocky "Red" Becker planted himself on top of a Los Angeles fumble on the Cub 23. Coach Cook immediately sent Arnett into the fray. Arnett's first throw was wild. The next was good for 9 yards with Carroll Joy on the receiving end. Big Art Heinrich made it first down on the Los Angeles 15. Billy Joseph caught Arnett's next shot for a seven-yard gain. On third down, Cook rushed Timken in the game and the Dons went into a spread, Timken out wide near the east sideline. Arnett fired him a diagonal pass on the five and Timken whirled and plunged the demanding distance.

DON RECEIPTS $1320
Santa Ana junior college's non-conference contests of football receipts are soaring again. Last night's "take" for the Los Angeles game was $1320, considerably better than for some of the early last season.

with two Los Angeles tacklers hanging to his legs.

Six times the Dons were in threatening territory, but only this once did they cash in. Their other efforts bogged down on the 21, 17, 23, 23 and 15-yard lines, respectively, as Coach Cook fussed and fussed and walked along the sidelines, substituting freely.

Twist's Tackling Saves Dons

Los Angeles threatened only once during the entire contest and that was in the last two minutes when a timely tackle and pass knock-down by Bill Twist, on successive plays, perhaps saved the Dons. Both times the runner and pass-catcher looked to be away.

Coach Cook's only answer to the comparative poor showing of his team was that no less than eight of his best men were on the sidelines most of the time. Only two of the eight saw any action at all. Arnett and Don Borden were in for four or five plays apiece and Co-Captain Johnny Joseph, Virgil Stevens, "Chuck" Stafford, Danny Kaufman, Sam Henderson and Jerry Nesmith—all more or less regulars—didn't see action.

Don line play was pretty good on defense but offensively the whole team was sluggish and couldn't seem to make its running attack work. Only once or twice did Don backs break away for any yardage.

Don Schmuck, an unsung line-man, was about only Santa Ana player who came in for any praise from the coaching staff during the game. The play of Cy Leivermann and Ed Becker at tackles, Jack Lentz at center, Pete Kotlar, guard, and the Don ends, Carroll Joy and Ted DeVries, was good enough on defense.

Out for Season?

Rumors persist that Amby Schindler, Trojan quarterback will not play football at all this season, preferring instead to rest his knee after a serious operation and save his one remaining season of eligibility until 1939. With this in view, they say, Schindler already has arranged his classes so he won't graduate next June.

PIRATES STILL IN FLAG RACE

(By United Press)

The National League's pennant race still was up in the air today with the Chicago Cubs struggling desperately to lunge across the finish line before the momentum of their skyrocket streak fizzles out.

All hope is not lost for the Pittsburgh Pirates, who regained their bearings yesterday behind Russ Bauers' four-hit pitching and still have faint hopes of overtaking the Cubs.

Weakness from their 10-game winning streak handicapped the Cubs and they had to battle furiously to get a 7-7 tie yesterday with the Cardinals. They only escaped a defeat by a hair's breadth in the ninth inning when Joe Medwick fouled out with the bases loaded. Now the Cubs must play a doubleheader today.

A combination of two-either Cub victories or Pirate defeats will win the pennant for Chicago. Thus the Cubs can clinch the flag today by sweeping a doubleheader or by winning one game if the Pirates lose to the Reds.

It's possible for the Pirates to regain the lead if they win from the Reds and the Cubs drop both games to the Cards.

And the Pirates then could go on to take the pennant if they won their last game Sunday from Cincinnati regardless of what the Cubs did in their final start.

If Chicago loses its three remaining games, Pittsburgh would need to win only one of its two to finish on top. If the Cubs lose two out of three, the Pirates can grab the flag by taking their remaining two games.

ORANGE PREPS LOSE TO COLTON, 26 TO 7
A big lumbering Colton High school halfback named Emmett Reed was the cause of all the gloom in Orange today. Reed personally scored three touchdowns yesterday at Orange as the Colton eleven romped to a 26-7 victory over the Orange Panthers team.

Coach Stewart White's Panthers produced their lone touchdown in the waning minutes of the game when Charles Bell completed a flat pass to "Nellie" Krueger, half-back, putting the ball on the one yard line. Krueger scored on the next play.

Colton made touchdowns in the second and third periods to take a 13-0 lead and then two more in the fourth quarter as a result of a 17-yard end run by Reed. A block-punt, which was retrieved and run over from the Orange 30-yard line, accounted for the final touchdown.

TUSTIN SHOWS POWER IN 12-0 WIN OVER H. B.

Tustin's fightin' Farmers, making their bow under a new coach (Russ Wilson) put on a surprising display of power to conquer Huntington Beach, 12-0 on the Oilers' turf yesterday.

The Orange league titleholders narrowly missed another pair of touchdowns in the final quarter, being stopped twice within the Oilers' five yard line. Huntington Beach, although showing a good defense, failed to carry the ball within Tustin's 40-yard line throughout the game.

Tustin scored first as the second quarter opened. The first period saw an even exchange of punts that left the ball at midfield. After a line play picked up three yards, Huntington Beach, although showing a good defense, failed to carry the ball within Tustin's 40-yard line throughout the game.

The final score came in the final quarter after Vic Linker had snagged a pass to carry the ball to the 3, just as the third period ended. Walt Linker who starred in the fullback spot for the Farmers, completed the brotherly affair by plunging across.

The Farmers showed a pair of field-goal carriers in Lilley and Linker, and the two ends, Ev Winkler and Vic Linker, were in the Huntington Beach backfield most of the game. Winkler blocked two kicks late in the final quarter to give the Farmers the ball inside the Oilers' 10. But the strong center of Coach Al Rebohn's line held and Tustin failed to score.

Capt. Johnny Osterman and Homer Hannaford bore the brunt of the Tustin defense. Huntington Beach was outstanding in the center of the line, where Ormsby, Johnson, and Wolf stood out.

Tustin clashes with Downey at Tustin next Friday, in a game that was postponed two weeks by a C. I. F. ruling. The Farmer-Oilers lineup:

S. C. MAY GET CHANCE TO EVEN SCORE
Frank Thomas' array hurled its biggest obstacle in its first test of the campaign, and it wouldn't be surprising to see Alabama in the Rose Bowl, Jan. 1, for the sixth time in 14 years.

Speaking hypothetically, this might be the first time since the elimination of old home-and-home series arrangements that two major teams will meet twice in the same season, Alabama and Southern California.

The Trojans have the capabilities to lead the Pacific Coast conference, so they can conceivably be named the far western representative, and invite "Bama."

Pardon us if we're getting too far ahead of schedule, and for all I know Howard Jones and Southern California may have their fill of Alabama football.

'DOC' PROTHO MAY SUCCEED JIMMY WILSON

BY JERRY GRONFIELD (NEA Service Sports Writer)

The market for headache powders boomed early this year, and some of our highly touted football giants are still nursing first-class hangovers.

To say that losing one game means a season wrecked beyond repair would be going a little too far, but under the present gridiron scheme nothing short of an undefeated campaign is accepted as success.

Picked to go far along the 1938 championship trail were Southern California and Louisiana State, but both must start anew after losing to Alabama and Mississippi, respectively.

Washington, of course, might be considered in the same boat as the Tigers and Trojans, but the Huskies' loss to Minnesota didn't come as an upset like the other two.

Meanwhile a new and somewhat unheralded power arises on the national scene in the form of U. C. L. A., which opened its Rose Bowl bid in all the very Pasadena stadium with a smashing 27-3 victory over Nile Kinnick and Iowa.

FLORIDA LOSES ANGEL
Florida may not see so much golf, tennis and swimming this winter.

The source of its sports attractions appears gone with the sale by Col. Henry M. Doherty of the Miami Biltmore hotel and all its appendages to a hard-headed business man, George MacDonald. It is feared that MacDonald may not go in for the vast program of Col. Carl Byoir. The only thing definite about the $10,000 Miami Biltmore Open are the dates, Dec. 9-12. Miami needs $7500 more to make the Miami Open a $10,000 affair, as demanded by the P. G. A.

At least one tournament of this stripe is essential to keep the star money players from dashing to California from Pinehurst. The only 13-hole flood-lighted course for night playing in America is under construction at Miami Springs, however. The Latonia Jockey club is taking a whipping. . . . and blames the vast number of handbooks and poolrooms in the greater Cincinnati area.

JACOBS, JOHNSTON MAKE UP
The eventual Bob Pastor-Gunnar Barland battle at Madison Square Garden ends another boxing feud. . . . one between Mike Jacobs and Jimmy Johnston, handler of Pastor. . . . They broke when Jacobs moved into the Eighth Avenue arena, where Johnston had been the ringmaster. . . . It was believed that Pastor got on his bicycle chiefly because Johnston wished to remove some of Joe Louis' luster. . . . and Jacobs announced that Pastor never would be a crack at the heavyweight crown as long as the Negro wore it. . . . But Jacobs had to solidify his front against the attack of the newly-formed Muggsy Taylor group. . . . So Pastor opens the elimination tournament. . . .

From 800 to 1000 special licenses again will be issued for hunting deer on North Carolina's Pisgah game preserve, Nov. 1-Dec. 10. . . . Low hit games are on the ascendency in the American association. . . . 59 of four hits or less this season as against 62 last and 44 in 1936. . . . Night baseball and seven-inning nightcaps is the answer.

LAGUNA OPENS WITH 13-0 GRID VICTORY
Laguna Beach high school's new football team, sparked by Walt Eltmann and Stan Harding, chalked up a 13-0 victory in its opening game of the season at Laguna yesterday. San Jacinto was the victim. Laguna's touchdowns arrived in the first and second quarters.

FIELD GOAL BEATS NEWPORT TARS, 3-0
An 18-yard field goal by Dave Alcala of Bonita in the fourth quarter spelled a 3-0 defeat for Newport Harbor highs Tars yesterday at Bonita. The game was a thriller with Newport threatening on several occasions.

ANAHEIM UPSET BY COVINA PREPS, 12-6
Dick Glover's Anaheim Colonists went down to a 12-6 defeat at Covina in its first football game of the season yesterday. Coach "Butter" Gorrell's eleven pushed over touchdowns in the third and fourth quarters to overcome a 6-0 Anaheim lead.

Ritchie Fontaine Whips Magana
LOS ANGELES—(UP)—Ritchie Fontaine of Montana was past the first hurdle in a featherweight elimination tournament to pick Henry Armstrong's successor today by virtue of a razor edge decision over Emilio Magana, Los Angeles Mexican. Each won five rounds but Fontaine's were by greater margins.

(through the press) that his team hasn't a chance, and then walking straight to the dressing room and swearing to his team that he will be ashamed of it unless it goes out and wins.

Such business is rated as psychology and strategy in some books. But not mine. For want of a better word I classify it as hedging.

A football coach thinks nothing of telling the public

Win or lose, "Pie" Traynor remains as manager of the staggering Pirates. . . . The old third baseman has been so informed by President Bill Benswanger. . . . Traynor's staunchest backer is Mrs. Benswanger. . . . "I want a gentleman to run my ball club," says the chairman of the board. . . . Pie Traynor is all of that. . . .

National leaguers were rooting for Cincinnati. . . . believing that the Reds' pitchers, especially the left-handers, Johnny Vander Meer and Lee Grissom, would be more effective against the Yankees. . . . The current Yanks may be the finest of all, but Joe Cronin asserts that Cleveland should have won the American league pennant. . . . The fiery boss of the Sox contends that the Indians should have obtained such a commanding lead that they could not be overtaken. . . . while the Yanks were getting off to a slow start, Boston was shy of pitchers, Detroit was going nowhere in particular, and the White Sox were so badly broken up by injuries. . . .

COCHRANE HIRED BY RUBBER COMPANY
CHICAGO—(UP)—Mickey Cochrane, who managed the Detroit Tigers to the American league pennant in 1934 and 1935 and captured the world championship the latter year, was "entirely out of baseball" today. He will be employed as a special representative in the Detroit area by a rubber company.

Propose Rooters' Jaunt To San Mateo Game
Plans for a rooter invasion of Northern California when Santa Ana's Dons play San Mateo Nov. 18 for college at San Mateo Nov. 18 were tentatively outlined today by Phil Hay, president of the Downtown Quarterbacks' club.

Hay warning those that desire to follow the Dons to San Mateo that if they wish to also see the big game between Stanford and California (the following afternoon) tickets must be bought in advance because the game is almost certain to be a sellout at the Berkeley stadium. The Dons play Friday afternoon at San Mateo and then will go on by train to Berkeley where they will see Stanford and California battle.

Special train rates north are being arranged for Santa Anans, according to Hay.

BUDGE, QUIST CLASH IN L.A.
LOS ANGELES—(UP)—Donald Budge pulled off the wraps and went out to execute a few of his best tennis strokes today in a semi-final match with Adrian Quist, a top flight player in his own right.

John Bromwich, Quist's Australian team mate and ranked second only to the great Budge in amateur tennis, met Sidney Wood in one of two quarter-final matches. Harry Hopman of Australia played Charles Hare of England in the other. The Australians ruled slight favorites in both matches.

The downfall of Gene Mako, beaten by Hopman just a week after he played Budge in the finals of the American Nationals at Forest Hills, came as a surprise to all but Mako. Hopman, non-playing captain of the Australian squad, won 1-6, 6-1, 6-2.

Budge advanced over another Los Angeles youth, Ronald Lubin, 6-3, 1-6, 6-3, and Quist moved up by eliminating Owen Anderson 6-3, 7-5. Wood defeated Welby Van Horn, Beverly Hills, junior, 6-1, 3-6, 6-4, after almost three hours of work, and Bromwich won from R. A. Shaves of England, 6-4, 6-1.

Coach "Red" Montgomery made a number of substitutions after that and Santa Ana took the play away from his team when Pickett was out of there. With Bob Musick and Piper carrying, the Saints reeled off three successive first downs after the kickoff but lost the ball on Poly's 32. Another drive in the fourth period accounted for straight first downs before the Saints surrendered on Long Beach's 13. Poly's fumble gave Santa Ana another chance in the last few minutes. This drive, too, failed although Musick completed a pass to Ross Barnes on the 13-yard line as the game ended.

Piper showed speed in the Saint backfield and Musick was an all-around star, his defensive work being outstanding. Acting Captain "Chuck" Pride looked to be the best lineman on the field, and Whitford turned in a nice game at center. Pickett, smart and fast, was Long Beach's man of the hour. Probably he was the difference between a 13-0 score and a 0-0 tie.

Elizabeth Hicks, shown teeing off, is the first golfer to become eligible in first year for the women's national championship. Medalist at Del Monte, the 17-year-old miss of Long Beach is considered a brilliant prospect. She took her first lesson in September, 1937.

FULLERTON JAYSEE NOSES OUT TAFT, 7-6
FULLERTON—Fullerton junior college's football destinies took on a brighter hue last night when the Yellowjackets turned back the Taft Cougars, 7 to 6, before 4500 spectators.

Victory came in the third period when Kenny Pickett's placement bisected the uprights after little Aubrey Minter, scintillating Brawley Negro skirted his right end and raced 30 yards to the promised land.

Taft rallied in the final period by unleashing a barrage of aerials from "Gabby" Gebhardt to Bob Loperena and Jim Flake. When the Cougars had the ball on the one-yard line Loperena made a desperate crack at Fullerton's forward wall. It didn't budge, but he lateraled quickly to Earl Sautsbury who took it over.

Fullerton made a dozen first downs to Taft's six and completely outplayed the Drillers in the first two rounds.

The victory might have proven costly. Truck Hanna, Jacket captain and ace guard, dislocated his shoulder blade and will be out of the game for three weeks or longer.

"Just Us," Say Officers Taken For Holdup Men

"Calling all cars, calling all cars and all stations. A stickup reported at Flower street and Wilshire avenue. Santa Ana police go to scene at once. Time, 9:43 p. m. That is all."

That announcement was broadcast last night after R. C. Bogardus, 1224 South Flower, called police headquarters and reported that "it looks like a stickup is being staged at Flower street and Wilshire avenue."

Capt. R. S. Elliott and Officers Clyde Flower, A. P. Moulton and Cornish Roehm leaped into action. A moment later, they turned back to routine duties. A second call had just reached them.

Officers F. L. Grouard and J. B. Stephenson, through the two-way radio setup, from their patrol car announced:

"This is no stickup. It's just us and we are looking over a suspicious character. We've been shaking him down to see what's on his person." The general broadcast was then cancelled.

THIEF USES RUSE TO GET MOWER

A youthful looking man in his early 20's who is described as being "very polite, kind and well-dressed," is being sought today as a petty thief following his novel method of obtaining a $12.50 lawn mower, sheriff's officers reported. Miss Margaret Bliss, 412 Wilson street, Midway City, reported the man came to her home and borrowed her rubber-tired lawn mower "to cut the neighbor's lawn a few doors from here." He said he had several children, needed the lawn mower to earn some money for them. They placed the lawn mower in his car and left.

A checkup with Huntington Beach police revealed that the man appeared at a Huntington Beach second hand store with the lawn mower and wanted to sell it.

CHARGED WITH BATTERY

PLAN DRIVE TO PUT BILL OVER

A group of prominent Santa Ana citizens, representing the local section of the California Committee for Peace in Employment Relations, met in Daniger's cafe yesterday afternoon to outline plans for an educational campaign designed to spread information regarding the merits of initiative Proposition No. 1.

William J. Tway presided as temporary chairman of the Santa Ana meeting. He outlined provisions of the statute, which will be voted on at the November 8 state election, pointing out that adoption of this measure will mean the end of industrial warfare in California.

Call of Chairman

It was the first meeting of the committee and members present included W. H. Spurgeon Jr., Frank Latham, W. D. Baker, Jules W. Markel, Mrs. Carl Mock, Mrs. Laura McKnight and Howard Curran. The next meeting will be at the call of the chairman.

"This labor relations initiative," Tway told the group, has not been hastily drawn. It is the result of long study and careful preparation. It embodies the sincere desire of business, industry, agriculture and the general public, to secure justice for employer and employee. It is designed, above all, to outlaw current abuses of power, and to promote the peaceful settlement of legitimate disputes between employer and employee.

Restricts Picketing

"This is a measure which affirms the principle of collective bargaining and the right to strike and at the same time protects employees from coercion and intimidation from any source. To the general public it assures the free and lawful use of streets, highways and wharves for the movement of all commodities. Picketing is not prohibited, but is restricted to prevent abuses which have become intolerable. The measure also would protect the general public from coercion and intimidation by violence or other overt acts. Sit-down strikes would be specifically prohibited. After all, it is the consumer, the general public, that is forced to pay for the terrific losses which occur when disastrous labor disputes are prolonged by interminable bickering, the use of force and oftentimes unlawful procedures."

FEATURED SCREEN ATTRACTIONS AT SANTA ANA THEATERS

Robert Taylor and Barbara Stanwyck, above, co-star tomorrow at the State in "This Is My Affair," dramatic screen masterpiece which also features Victor McLaglen. "The Main Event," with Robert Paige and Jacqueline Wells, a mystery story of the fight arena, also screens.

MUSIC, FUN IN SUNDAY'S BILL

Compounded of equal parts of comedy, romance and music, "Garden of the Moon" based on the popular magazine story of the same name, comes to the screen of the Broadway theater tomorrow.

Heading an impressive list of entertainers, whose joint efforts are guaranteed to make "Garden of the Moon" one of the most diverting films to come from Hollywood in many months are Pat O'Brien, Margaret Lindsay and John Payne. From a musical standpoint, the important personages are Payne, Johnnie Davis, Joe Venuti and his orchestra, Jerry Colonna and Ray Mayer.

The comedy enlists the efforts of the principals, and also such popular comedians as Melville Cooper, Isabel Jeans, Curt Bois, Mabel Todd and Penny Singleton. The film also presents Jimmie Fidler, famous radio chatter, playing himself. The story concerns a hot and tricky feud between a hotel manager and an impertinent young band leader.

On the same program will be a story of youth and its high code of honor, "Barefoot Boy," with a cast headed by Jackie Moran, Marcia Mae Jones, Daph Morgan and Claire Windsor.

The picture concerns a country boy who has a gang and a girl and a flair for adventure, and who finds the biggest problem in his life in trying to regenerate a spoiled city youth. Both films are $250,000 Movie Quiz contest pictures.

HILARITY WILL TOP WALKER BILL

Offering one of the year's most hilarious comedies, Walker's theater will screen "Boy Meets Girl," starring Jimmy Cagney, Pat O'Brien and Marie Wilson beginning Friday. The picture is a Movie Quiz contest offering.

Second billing brings the beloved Will Rogers back to Santa Ana in "Judge Priest," while world news is an added attraction.

With Cagney and O'Brien together again, playing the two wacky playwrights, "Boy Meets Girl" speeds along through laugh after roaring laugh. Clowning themselves out of one dizzy moment into another, adopting an unborn baby to star in their next picture, at the same time letting the film industry in for such a satirical lampooning as it will ever get, the two wacks run a producer and his cowboy star ragged. Ralph Bellamy, Frank McHugh and Dick Foran have leading parts.

From the pages of Irvin S. Cobb comes the character, Judge Priest, played by Rogers with all the humanness he has been noted for. The picture ranks as one of Rogers' funniest. Rochelle Hudson, Tom Brown, Anita Louise and Stepin Fetchit are in the cast.

Ritz Boys Tops In New Comedy 'Riot' Friday

Sustained comedy of hilarious nature features "Straight, Place and Show," starring the mad Ritz Brothers in their funniest picture date, which comes to the screen of the West Coast theater next Friday.

Highly praised in reviews by critics, the new comedy draws frequent outbursts of sustained rickety, especially during the comedy wrestling match and the steeplechase sequences.

"MOVIE QUIZ" PICTURES

Joan Bennett and Randolph Scott, above, appear at Walker's in "The Texans," beginning tomorrow. The picture depicts the stirring days after the Civil War when the carpet-baggers sought control of the South's business life. Edgar Bergen, Charlie McCarthy, feature the second program, "Letter of Introduction," a comedy-drama.

Bennett And Bergen Head Walker Bill

Seldom has history been so excitingly told and characters out of the distant past so vividly brought to life as in Paramount's epic of the South's struggle for freedom during the dark days after the war between the states, "The Texans," which comes to Walker's screen tomorrow for three days. Joan Bennett and Randolph Scott have the leads. "The Texans" is a Movie Quiz contest film.

In the second billing Edgar Bergen and Charlie McCarthy "go to town" royally in a riotous comedy, "Letter of Introduction." The fine cast includes Adolphe Menjou, Andrea Leeds and George Murphy.

Miss Bennett plays the part of a fire-eating belle of the Old South who fights a one-woman war against Northern oppression and Scott, a gallant Southern soldier who counsels a clashing of hands across the bloody chasm after the war. They play the romantic leads in the story of the 10-year battle between corrupt carpet-baggers and proud natives for control of the destinies of the South.

Some great dramatic moments are seen in "Letter of Introduction," story of a letter which changes the course of a dozen lives by revealing a father-daughter relationship between a matinee idol

A gripping drama of modern aviation and a timely glimpse behind the scenes of the training that today's fliers must undergo both are presented in RKO Radio's "Sky Giant" which double bills Wednesday and Thursday with "Penrod's Double Trouble." World news also is scheduled for showing.

Richard Dix, co-starred with Joan Fontaine and Chester Morris in "Sky Giant," plays a noted pilot transferred to managing a big aviation school under the strict discipline of its superintendent, Harry Carey. Carey's son, Morris, enrolls at the school without his father's knowledge and Dix is in continual hot water trying to keep matters smoothed out between father and son. The romantic element is introduced when both men fall in love with Miss Fontaine.

"Penrod's Double Trouble," starring vehicle for the Mauch twins, is the third in Warner brothers' series based on Booth Tarkington's best-known representative of American boyhood. The startlingly identical twins are the leading characters in a novel story which combines the Tarkington humor with the up-to-date adventures of two modern American boys. The picture offers thrills for adults as well as girls and boys.

While the mad brethren dominate the picture with their wild antics, there is a more serious side, presided over by Richard Arlen and Phyllis Brooks, who furnish the love interest, and by Ethel Merman, who supplies the melody.

Based on the Damon Runyon-Irving Caesar play, the picture is laden with new gags and freshness. Miss Brooks, daughter of the rich George Barber and owner of the horse Play Boy, is betrothed to Arlen, who is eager to marry her, although he knows he is sharing affections with the horse girl has raised from a colt. How he wins the horse and her hand, too, brings a riotous climax.

The second attraction will be "Time Out for Murder," first of a new Roving Reporter series featuring Gloria Stuart, Michael Whalen and Chick Chandler. The melodrama is generously sprinkled with comedy and romance. The story concerns the adventures of a newspaperman and a cameraman who set out to solve a baffling murder.

Clark Gable and Myrna Loy, above, as daredevils under fire, provide thrills, romance and action-packed drama in "Too Hot to Handle," story of the daring feats of newsreel cameramen, now showing at the West Coast theater along with "Meet the Girls," first in a series of new comedies featuring June Lang and Lynn Bari.

GABLE AND LOY PACK ACTION INTO FAST NEWSREEL STORY

A story of the daring feats of newsreel cameramen is told in "Too Hot to Handle," now showing at the West Coast theater with Clark Gable and Myrna Loy as daredevils under fire, and provides thrills, romance and action-packed drama.

The action gets off to a flying start in Shanghai. War, aviation thrills, the quest of a lost aviator amid savage tribes in South America, the crackup of Miss Loy's plans, are among the rapid-fire details of the new picture, which will end Tuesday.

The Gable-Loy combination, acclaimed in "Fast Pilot," figures in even faster and more furious romance in the new picture. The story shows Gable and his rivals ferreting out "scoops" in the Orient ranging from the "Chinese Big Ap-

Jimmie Fidler In Hollywood

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 1.—Mutterings: I'd like to take a healthy sock at the strip-sazers who park on the corner of Hollywood and Vine and comment on all the girls who pass. Imaginable hilarious evening: to hold a W.C.T.U. convention in Bill Fidler's dressing room and serve lemonade. My ardent admiration for Olivia de Havilland doesn't include that posey smile she wears in all her still photographs. Silly notions: to test Oliver Hardy's pomposity with a tire gauge.

Hugh Herbert's impersonation of Luise Rainer is funny but blood feuds have been started by less. Secret ambition: to tour Main street's burlesque houses with Mae West for my mentor. If only Betty Grable's face were as expressive as her curves, what a star she would be! Ode to Mayhem: to let off Billy Gilbert sneeze just as Bing Crosby starts to stroke a putt. Why not stage a contest between Sam Goldwyn, Maxie Rosenbloom and Director Mike Curtiz and settle Hollywood's ungrammatical championship once and for all.

Nervous itch: to curl Vic McLaglen's hair while he naps between scenes. It took Marlynah Dietrich to reverse the prize fighter's common ailment—instead of her legs going back on her, she went back on her legs. Hit and run idea: to remind Ben Alexander that he made his first screen appearance as Cupid in a Fanny Ward pulsator. The fact that our extras seem a bit thicker-skinned this year than usual is not a sure sign we're in for a hard winter.

On the sixteenth fairway at the golf club this morning appeared a strange procession—a publicity man, two still photographers, a dog trainer, Janet Gaynor and Buck, the gigantic St. Bernard that played in "Call of the Wild." I stuck around to watch developments, and had to admit the idea was excellent. Big dog caddying for little girl—sure fire human interest. But the dog was too big and the girl too little. Whenever a camera was pointed in his direction Buck decided to pose with his paws on Janet's shoulders. And whenever he did Janet sat down, suddenly and completely. When I left they were still trying to educate Buck and to soothe the ruffled dignity of a very impatient star.

Hollywood Lullaby: Kept late at an American Legion affair, Shirley Temple was rushed home by a police escort—weaving through traffic at 60 miles an hour. Mrs. Temple didn't want her to miss her sleep.

Had lunch with Anita Louise who spent dessert-time telling me about some of her experiences with fortune tellers. And I was reminded of the time that I persuaded one of our most famous mystics, Norvel, to make a few predictions. He told me (1) that Jeannette MacDonald, then apparently through in pictures, would return and make a great hit in musicals, (2) that Douglas Fairbanks and Mary Pickford, then our happiest couple, would divorce and (3) that Lupe Velez and Johnny Weissmuller were not destined for a life of bliss. I've never sneered at fortune-telling since.

Four months ago when John Garfield, a complete unknown to Hollywood, was enroute here to make his first picture, he met Bob Taylor, who was returning to the coast on the same train. Yesterday, Garfield received a telegram from Bob, congratulating him on his brilliant hit in "Four Daughters." Ordinarily, there would be nothing to write about in such an event, for congratulatory telegrams are so common here that some stars have been suspected of self-addressing them. But this telegram opened with a strange preface. It read: "I don't suppose you remember me, but I met you on the train . . ."

It appears that our next fad will be tattooing. I hear that Geraldine Spreckels, who rates tops in Filmmville's social whirl, has had a honey bee tattooed on her leg, just above the knee.

Dr. Eduard Jenny of Switzerland has ventured the opinion that babies are more likely to be born between 2 and 5 a. m. than at any other time of the day or night.

Margaret Lindsay and John Payne, above, are co-starred with Pat O'Brien in "Garden of the Moon," a fast-moving comedy packed with hot tunes, which opens an engagement at Broadway theater tomorrow along with "Barefoot Boy," a compelling and dramatic story of the efforts of a country boy to bring about the regeneration of a spoiled city youth.

BOB TAYLOR TO SCREEN SUNDAY

"This Is My Affair," starring Robert Taylor, Barbara Stanwyck and Victor McLaglen, and "The Main Event," a crime thriller set against a ring background, begin on the State screen tomorrow. "The Mysterious Pilot," serial, also will be shown.

In "This Is My Affair," brought back to Santa Ana by request of movie fans, both Taylor and Miss Stanwyck find one of the most important stories either has ever played in. The picture is a dramatic account of a love supremely courageous and unashamed, endangering the nation's highest places and gambling life itself for a higher stake.

With a heavyweight championship bout scheduled that evening, the defending title-holder is kidnapped just before ring time to make Columbia's "The Main Event" one of the most thrilling action pictures ever filmed. In the picture, Robert Paige and Jacqueline Wells are co-featured as a detective and his dizzy girl friend who startlingly expose a million dollar sporting racket. The picture is lavish with comedy and shows many hilarious moments.

'Sing Sinners' Here Next Week

Bing Crosby, Fred MacMurray and Donald O'Connor are the leading trio in "Sing Sinners," the new comedy which will come to the Broadway theater a week from tomorrow.

With these three playing the brothers in a madcap California family and Elizabeth Patterson cast in the role of their long-suffering mother, "Sing Sinners" tells an amusing story of a ne'er-do-well young man who nearly wrecks his family through his irresponsibility but finally puts them all on Easy Street through his ability to "pick" race horses and organize singing acts. Four new songs are presented in the film.

On the same program will be "Girls on Probation," a dramatic story showing the merits of the much-maligned probation system. It features a cast headed by Jane Bryan, Sheila Bromley and Ronald Reagan.

Bridal Party Assembles On Eve Of Rites

Forecasting the beauty of tonight's wedding of Miss Mary Lou McFarland and Charles Stewart Meece in First Presbyterian church was a gathering of bridal party members last night for dinner and rehearsal.

The bride-elect's father, Rev. O. Scott McFarland, who will officiate at the nuptials, and Mrs. McFarland received guests for dinner in the family home, 303 Orange avenue. Antagonism, Chinese fleece and wind flowers, and other decorations were in keeping with a coral, white and royal blue motif.

Assisting Mrs. McFarland throughout the evening were her mother, Mrs. Clara Wiltzie; her aunt, Mrs. Emma Prettyman; a sister, Mrs. Harry W. Worley and cousins, the Misses Adele and Mary Kintigh.

Guests found their places at small tables where all was in readiness for the serving of tomato cocktail. During this interval, bridal party members were presented with gifts. There were a beaded evening bag for the maid of honor and a smaller bag for the flower girl. Each of the bride's attendants received a pair of after-dinner coffee spoons in the same Cavalier pattern as Miss McFarland's silver. Ushers received gold and silver key chains; the best man was presented with a desk clock. Mr. Meece's gift to his bride-to-be was a strand of pearls; Miss McFarland's gift to him, and to her brother, John McFarland, who will give her in marriage were key chains.

Following the serving of the first course, guests went to the dining room, where baked ham dinner was served. A climaxing feature was an ice cream cake whose frosting was inscribed with the names of Miss McFarland and her fiancé.

In the group were members of the party including the betrothed pair Miss McFarland and Mr. Meece and the Rev. Mr. McFarland; the bridegroom's brother, Ted Meece of Long Beach, best man; the bride's sister, Miss Alice Clare McFarland, maid of honor; Richard Clark of Anaheim, James Gholson, Wayne Smithson of Long Beach, Hal Miller of Los Angeles, Jack Driggs of Santa Paula, (a U. S. C. student) and Walter Williams of Huntington Beach, ushers; Miss Louise Sexton and Mrs. Chris Ema of this city, Miss Marjorie Bettanior of Pasadena, and Miss Mary King of San Francisco, bride's attendants; Miss Edith Vorhis, flower girl; and John McFarland. Miss King, a former Santa Ana, flew down from the Bay City for the event.

Completing the group were the bridegroom-elect's mother and sister, Mrs. J. M. Lorenzen and Miss Dolly Lorenzen, of Huntington Beach; Mrs. Louis Vorhis, Mr. and Mrs. Whitford Hall, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Rhoades, Mrs. Ted Meece, Mrs. Walter Williams, Mrs. James Gholson, Mrs. Chris Ema, and Mrs. McFarland.

Wedding gifts were displayed upstairs, as they will be tonight during the reception following the wedding.

Wait A Minute

New Year's day, 1939 has been set as the date for closing the charter of Santa Ana Babies' Ebell society, the membership list of which is growing steadily. Latest additions are William Dwight Curran, son of Nan and Frank (Lumber Man) Curran Jr.; Lolita Geoghegan, daughter of Lolita and Thomas (Paint Store) Geoghegan Jr.; Philip Hubert Gohres, son of Nettie and Hubert (Elec. and Radio Maint.) Gohres and Russell Marshall Sullivan, offspring of Charlotte and Russell (Teacher) Sullivan. Only difficulty in starting the club is that so many of these Junior Ebell babies are boys and probably won't be very club-minded. . . . Anyhow, there are more to come, and the girls may have their inning yet. . . . Adelaide (Pretty 'N Blonde) and Kingsley (R.D. 2) Tuttle have a baby dotted now. . . . Mary (Mrs. George) Broome is staying home with little Del, Judy and Gary while husband and father George (Geologist) Broome departs for darkest Africa. . . . Sailing yesterday on the Lurline, Alice McDougal and Spouse Russell (M.D.) Jensen began a new interval in their married life, planning to spend a year on the Hawaiian Islands—they were widely feted by Alice's former Tustin school mates while visiting here.

Down with precedent, records and such! Men may be natural marksmen, but they aren't always quick on the draw. Anyhow the only man winning a lucky prize tother night at the big Country club bing, was Lawrence (Autos) Coffing—but then he auto win. . . . Blanche (Mrs. Don) Andrews all enthused about the entertaining Santa Ana Women Golfers will do at the club tomorrow—there will be an eastern division tournament, with players coming from all around these parts. . . . Joel (Attorney) Ogilvie sauntering along Main street, with hat pushed back on his head just as though we were having warm weather. . . . Harriette (Mrs. Harold) Dale looking very little-girlish with her hair in fly-away curls, stopping to buy a hank of yarn so she might continue her knitting while at the beauty parlor having her tresses arranged more conservatively. . . . Wilma (Mrs. Hugh) Lowe wears that new high-on-the-head hair-dress better than anyone we know. . . . unless it is Blanche (Mrs. J. E.) Liebigs on whom it is quite irresistible.

Geraldine and Mark (Vet) Lindsey leave soon for that greatly anticipated trip into Colorado. . . . Alwilda (Beautician) Baker had her thrill o' the season tother night when she put a 'phone call through to Ontario, Can., where Mama Phoebe Simpson of this city is having herself a visit with relatives. . . . Teasing at the Library tomorrow will be many guests eager to hear Louis (Pianos) Danz talk on "Modern Art," and albeit to see an exhibition of the work of Elise (Mrs. Merle) Armitage—moreover, Elise, herself will be there. . . . Congrats to Stanley (Baritone) Kurtz, who goes to L. A. First Church of Christ, Scientist, as soloist. . . . Mac (Ins.) Robbins upbraids us for classifying him as an expert at bowling, explaining that Son Richard (Ins. Salesman) Robbins is the true expert. Edward M. (Rancher-Horse Show Mgr.) Hall and Marietta (Mrs. Paul) Dinsmore in animated conversation on a downtown corner—don't tell us Horse Show plans are under way! . . . Comes word from Beatrice (Santa Ana) Smith, who has been vacationing in Vancouver, B.C.—is seems that she went to the races and played "Society Editor," which strangely enough, did not come in a winner. . . . Other home town folk who trekked to Vancouver recently were Ruby and George (Rubin-Coln-Zephyr-Road) Duntun (Ruby says the autumn leaves in the woods of Washington are beautiful beyond description).

Ask Otto (Smart and Final) Griggs how he likes dancing the Big Apple with Martha (Flicker) Star, Raye, and entertaining all the Sigma Thetas and their escorts at the Grove. . . . Ask Hazel (O. C. Tax Service) Northcross sometime how she came to be flourishing a copy of the Clover Leaf club publication—the club, as perhaps you don't know, being that flourishing matrimonial agency of Long Beach. . . . Just home from an exciting trip, Margaret (World-Traveler) Jewett has, "among her souvenirs," a broken rib or two—while being lifted from a camel's back somewhere in Jerusalem, she was caught a little too firmly by a well-meaning Arab, and the painful crushing of ribs was the result. . . . Everyone regrets that Lydia (Mrs. James C.) Small had to suffer a broken shoulder, and the regret isn't just the selfish one that fears it will be a long time before she takes another of those luscious datenut cakes. . . . Delphina (Beta Sigma Phi Prexy) Lopez had a queer way of enjoying her vacation—by having a tonsillectomy. . . . Kenneth (Edison Co.) VauDruff was just as queer, and said "radios" to his tonsils Wednesday. . . . George S. (Masonic) Smith declares that he is completely surrounded by termites—said news to the many friends of the genial six-foot plus Kiwanian grower of prize dahlias, especially since he and Fau Carrie recently completed remodeling operations on their home. . . . Alma and John (Orange Avenue) Kellogg recall the October day they wedding marched many years ago. We like to remember. . . . The pleased grin on the face of Eddie Stinson Jr., remarkable driver son of a remarkable driver father, when he took first place in the handling of Belgian draft horses at Pomona fair. . . . The kindness and simplicity of the late world famous artist, Alice Underwood Fitch, who painted that adorable portrait of small Moya (Mary and Loyal's) Dotter) King, titled so aptly, "The King's Daughter," and now a

Double Bridal Rites Promise Great Beauty

Of interest throughout Orange county and the Southland will be formal wedding rites to be held tomorrow evening at 6 o'clock in Fullerton First Methodist Episcopal church, where two charming cousins of Carpinteria, very recent residents of Fullerton, will fill the twin bridal roles. They are Miss Virginia McCubrey, daughter of the G. A. McCubreys, of Carpinteria, who is to wed Dale P. Schuyler of Long Beach, and Miss Vivian Robinson, daughter of the W. D. Robinsons, now of Piru, who will be the bride of Fred A. Morris, also of Long Beach.

The families of both brides have been long-time residents of Orange county, the father of W. D. Robinson and his brother, Ernest Robinson of Fullerton, having built and occupied the first house in Brea. Miss McCubrey, given in marriage by her brother, Harold McCubrey, will wear a formal gown of white tulle with long veil, and will carry gardenias and lilies of the valley. Her sister, Mrs. Wesley Oliver of Long Beach, the former Leona McCubrey, wedded in Santa Ana in January, will be matron of honor and will wear peach tulle. Two cousins, Miss Audrey Robinson of Fullerton, in dubonnet, and Miss Barbara Robinson of Anaheim, in Eleanor blue, will be her bridesmaids.

Lowell B. McCubrey, the bride's brother, will assist Mr. Schuyler as best man, and his ushers will be Max Simpson of Long Beach, and Glen Robinson of Anaheim, cousins to the two brides.

Second Bride
Miss Robinson, given in marriage by her father, will be tulle clad and tulle veiled like her cousin bride, and will carry a similar bouquet. Her sister, Miss Naomi Robinson, wearing peach tulle, will be maid of honor. Her attendants will include Mrs. Harold McCubrey (Myra Davis) of Carpinteria, in cinnamon tulle, and Mrs. Lowell McCubrey, of Long Beach, in peach tulle with a burgundy accent. All the bridal attendants will carry pastel flowers.

Mr. Morris will be assisted by William Kane of Long Beach, best man; Dale Robinson and Kenneth Robinson, Fullerton, ushers.

The Rev. John Oliver, retired Methodist minister, formerly of Santa Ana First M. E. church, will officiate at the double ceremony. Mrs. Harold Nielsen will play all bridal music and accompany Miss Dorothy Little in the solos, "Ah, Sweet Mystery of Life" and "I Love You Truly."

The Ernest Robinsons will complement their nieces with a wedding reception, where the two brides will cut twin wedding cakes nestled in flowers on a table in the patio. The parents will join the receiving line, Mrs. McCubrey wearing green crepe and Mrs. Robinson in aqua blue crepe.

The young couples will leave for a honeymoon trip before proceeding to Long Beach where the new homes will be established, and where both bridegrooms are engaged in the transportation business.

Mrs. Clyde Higgins, Mrs. Annie L. Arnold and Mrs. Amanda Holmes won prizes for their high scores in bridge. Layette gifts for Mrs. Arnold were attractively arranged on a large table centered with a tall stork figure.

The same motif dominated a late afternoon refreshment interval when centerpieces at small tables were cradles over which hovered storks carrying doll babies. Mrs.

Football Theme Adds To Pleasure Of Birthday Affair

Football was the exciting theme for a group of Santa Ana High school friends who attended yesterday's game on the local field before going to the home of Miss Betty McAuley, 1319 North Broadway for a party honoring Miss Marjorie White's birthday.

The affair came as a surprise to Miss White, who had been invited to have dinner with Miss McAuley and her parents, Dr. and Mrs. John McAuley. Instead a group of close friends had assembled for the festivities.

Miniature goal posts and tiny football men formed a centerpiece at the dinner table, where places were marked with banners. There were birthday gifts for Miss White.

Devotees of Badminton Have Supper Party To Close Summer Play

Badminton has been the chief source of amusement throughout the summer months for a little neighborhood group in the northern part of the city, so members were brought together for a climactic event last night, when the Eugene Robinsons and Dr. and Mrs. Kenneth Coulson were hosts.

They had planned an enchilada supper to be served in the Robinson home, 2124 North Flower street, as introduction to badminton play at the course which Dr. and Mrs. Coulson have at their nearby home, 2133 North Flower street. As was entirely appropriate with the spicy fare served by the two hostesses, their table appointments were in definite Mexican mood. Miniature flower arrangements centering each table, were chosen to blend with the vivid linens and pottery. Miss Jeanne Louise Robinson, daughter of the home, and little Miss Jeanne Coulson, aided in serving.

There were many amused comments on the prevalent plague of mosquitoes, but undeterred by the threat of insect bites, the guests made an onslaught on citronella bottles and repaired after supper, to the badminton courts for exciting play.

In the party with the Robinsons and the Coulsons, were Messrs. and Mesdames Don Richie, J. F. Herzhiser, Allen Vaughn Elston, Ernest Machader and Robert Heffner. All are planning to continue the sport until possibly heavy rains or antitana winds drive them within doors.

Date Announced Today For Legion Auxiliary Jam, Jelly Drive

Each year as Santa Ana households stock the pantry shelves with luscious jellies, jams and preserves, they have a special pleasant habit of setting aside choice jars from their store, to turn in to American Legion auxiliary for the World War veterans at San Fernando hospital.

The jam and jelly drive of the auxiliary is an established custom each autumn, and this year the event will be held next Friday and Saturday, under chairmanship of Mrs. Robert Sandon and Mrs. Roy Gandy. They, or some of their committee members, will be at Veterans hall from 9 a.m. until 5 p.m. each of the two days, ready to receive the generous gifts of the interested auxiliary friends.

Those wishing to add to the gifts, but with no way of getting their contributions to the scene, may telephone Veterans hall 1660, and someone will call for the fruit. After all donations are collected, they will be taken to the hospital on some date to be announced later.

CLUB ELECTION
French club members elected officers during their opening meeting of the season Friday morning in the school music room. Miss Betty Hammett was chosen president; Miss Isabella Albright, vice president; Miss Isa Grace Young, secretary and James Dunsteth, treasurer.

Miss Hammond, who spent the past year in Switzerland, gave a talk in French, on the many places she visited during her European stay. Her descriptions of visits to sessions of the League of Nations were especially interesting to the students.

Miss Lella Watson, club advisor, was present at the meeting, which closed with group singing of the French national hymn. Miss Maxine Huber was accompanist.

DRIVE CAREFULLY —SAVE A LIFE—

THE FOUR POWER PACT A GREAT ACCOMPLISHMENT

It certainly is a great relief to everyone that the four great European powers have arrived at an agreement which greatly reduces the prospect of a general war.

The principle of self-determination of nations seems to be an important factor in this decision. While it seems very disheartening to the people of Czechoslovakia, it is hoped that the final settlement will interfere as little as possible with the inalienable rights of the citizens in the territory.

SINGLE TAX AMENDMENT—THE MOST DANGEROUS AMENDMENT

Probably the most dangerous initiative to be voted on on November 8 is Initiative No. 20, which is primarily an initiative to repeal the sales tax and eventually exempt taxation on all luxuries and improvements and put it on land.

It is probably more dangerous than any other of the initiatives because, if enacted into law, it would practically confiscate the fruits of labor. Of course, the $30 a Week is dangerous but certainly there is less danger of it passing than this initiative that would repeal the sales tax.

The thing is dangerous because of the trickery and mis-statements of its advocates. If the statements made by the advocates were true, namely that population makes land values, then there would be some justice in the amendment.

But this catch-phrase that population makes land values, is not true. It is only a coincidence. It is labor, and labor alone, that makes land values. If a thousand or a million people who had no wealth and who could not work and produce anything came into or grew up in a country instead of adding to land values, it would lower land values. The only possible thing that makes land, or natural resources, of any value is labor in and near the natural resources. And to put all the tax on the value coming as a result of labor, is, in reality, to put a tax on labor. The man who labors and adds to the tools of the world, is making it possible for more production and, consequently, higher wages and a higher standard of living.

This amendment violates the very fundamental principle of justice that each citizen should contribute to the government in proportion to what he costs the government and if the government protects an individual's house from fire (land does not burn) there is no reason in the world why he should not, if he is at all fair, be willing to contribute to the government for the service society through the government renders to this citizen.

A repeal of the sales tax, which is not an ideal tax, and the elimination of a property tax on wealth that is being consumed is certainly an attempt of the citizen to have somebody else pay his share of the government's expense.

Taxes or wealth used to produce new wealth, under the present property tax, is invariably a part of the cost of production, and if properly managed is passed on to the eventual consumer, who gets the benefit of the protection of the government in producing and consuming this wealth and should be paid by the eventual consumer.

This amendment, to our mind, is by far the most dangerous because it has so many popular and demagogic appeals that it might pass and if it does carry, it would be practically going back to the philosophy of the Indians—that the land belonged in common—and the Indians made little, if any, progress.

"A COUNTY THAT TURNED DOWN RELIEF"
By George Morris
(Nation's Business)

"Gibson County, Tenn., defines a political paradox. It is long on independence, yet has none for sale. Distinguished with agricultural diversification, this county is currently providing an eloquent example of community self-reliance in a national atmosphere charged with political evangelism toward acceptance of relief and subsidy as the only way to economic salvation."

Humboldt, the largest town, population 5,000 is thriving, modern, with none of the spirit of rampant "progress" typical of boom towns. It is an example of American enterprise and individual initiative.

Until P. W. A., W. P. A. and A. A. came along, Humboldt and Gibson county accepted their problems in their stride, solved them in their own way and to their satisfaction. Humboldt came near surrendering to the lure of a 45 per cent P. W. A. grant, but better judgment prevailed. Its public buildings are modern and adequate and P. W. S. influence has been resisted.

W. P. A. has been more difficult. It has a more insidious appeal. The argument of "more money in circulation" is strong, but it has been offset by the problem of getting workers to gather perishable crops. It is not easy to get workers in the field when relief beckons the unemployed to come over and rest in the shade of a tree.

In the early states of "relief" a group of business men and farmers from Humboldt and Gibson county went to Nashville and flatly told relief officials they wanted relief in Gibson county discontinued. Strawberries were decaying in the fields for want of workers. Relief threatened ruin. Relief was discontinued and the unemployed went to work.

But W. P. A. filtered through, inevitably. While it has been kept at a minimum, the influence is widespread.

Humboldt suffered somewhat from the depression. Purchasing power elsewhere diminished and farm prices declined. Collection of municipal taxes fell behind and forced suspension of interest payment on one small bond issue.

Solved Their Own Problems

The people of Humboldt were as jealous of the town's credit as of their own. They had prospered by spending less than they earned. The feeling was that the town should do the same thing.

Business men and the citizenship generally set about to remedy conditions. The town's civic activities are centered in the Chamber of Commerce. Operating through the Chamber, the business men selected candidates for mayor and board of aldermen. Nominations were accepted as a civic duty. The ticket was elected.

The new administration reasoned that, if property

"MACHINES MAKE JOBS"

Under the heading "Machines Make Jobs" by professor of American History of Oxford, Thomas Jefferson Wertenbaker, states that it is not necessary to go to the economist to prove this but it is a matter of history. He states the experience of the past century proves the answer to this question.

He points out that "the invention of the cotton gin for the moment lessened the demand for slaves in the South, since the machine did the work of fifty men. But, in conjunction with the new spinning and weaving machinery in use in England, it soon lowered the price of cotton cloth to a point where all the world could buy. This in turn so stimulated the consumption of raw cotton, that it increased the demand for slaves and fixed the institution of slavery firmly on the South."

Per Man Automobile Production

The Professor continues by pointing out that in 1909 the automobile industry employed 51,000 workers and turned out on an average of 2 1/2 cars a year for each worker. Then he points out that 20 years later, standardized machinery and up-to-date methods made it possible for the average worker to turn out 23 cars per year per worker and the number of men in the factories alone had increased from 51,000 to 226,000. And when was added to this, road building, repair shops, etc., the number was increased from one to three millions.

Of course this industry subtracted from the workers on the farm producing power and horses, but even if this is subtracted, the increase is phenomenal.

Mr. Wertenbaker points out that in 1849 the average industrial worker turned out an average goods value at $1056. At that time, there were 957,000 jobs. By 1927, the output per worker was $7500 and the number of jobs had increased to 8,350,000. In other words, when the machinery made it possible for one man to do the work of seven, nearly nine times as many hands were needed.

The author quotes foreigners coming to the United States as saying, "It is the use of machinery which accounts for America's vast output and high standard of living. So long as the labor of one American produces three or four times as much as that of one European, Europe will continue to lag."

It is for this reason that the American worker can purchase twice as much as the London worker and four times as much as the worker in Rome and the amount that workers can purchase with a given unit of work is the real test of whether a system is good or bad.

"COUNTERFEIT AMERICANS"

Of course, what a "counterfeit American" is depends upon what one interprets Americanism to be. If one reads history, it certainly would mean that it is one who believes in different things than what was practiced in America during its formative period. And the Americans in that period believed the government should be limited largely to preventing aggression from within and from without.

Now it seems that many people in America are becoming Communists, Socialists or Totalitarians. These people are "counterfeit Americans." It has been established that there are 10,000,000 "counterfeit Americans" and the more we have people in the habit of getting assistance from the government for which they do not give equal value the more "Counterfeit Americans" we will have.

owners could not pay taxes already assessed, it would be folly to increase taxes and equally absurd to issue more bonds when those already issued threatened to default. So the administration adopted what might be termed a novel experiment in present day governmental operation: It reduced expenses.

That problem was no sooner out of the way than another arose. Repairs of public conveniences and expansion of city improvements, long neglected, were urgent. The colored high school burned and a new building was necessary. The elementary school building was old, became dangerous, was condemned and abandoned. The high school building, which had to pick up the housing load when the elementary building went out of use, became overcrowded. Thus, the authorities found they had three major school demands on hand at one time.

The school problem called for a major building program. The first thought was to turn to P. W. A. After some negotiation, P. W. A. agreed to put up 45 per cent for the colored school building.

An architect was employed to prepare plans. According to his estimates the cost would be about $24,000.

The plans were sent to Washington. To the astonishment of the mayor and aldermen, the P. W. A. returned the plans with the statement that the school could not be built for any such amount. The town was directed to re-submit the plans to the architect with instructions to increase his estimate.

The architect, who had already carefully estimated the cost, arbitrarily hiked the figure to $49,000.

They Built Economically

The mayor and aldermen were not running the town on that basis. They refused to be tempted to waste money, even though it was "free." They refused to have anything to do with P. W. A.

The town proceeded with its construction program without assistance. Instead of costing $49,000 the school was built for less than the original estimate of $24,000 and was a better building than the architect planned. The roof was better and the foundation heavier. A stoker, not included in the original estimate, was added.

The other buildings were built in the same way—all without P. W. A. assistance. They mayor and aldermen figured they could do a better job with less expense by paying the entire cost than by accepting a 45 per cent P. W. A. grant. The citizens of Humboldt are proud of the money saved. They have compared their experience with that of their neighboring towns. Editor C. W. Rooks of the Humboldt Courier-Chronicle has made comparisons with Trenton and Milan. This is how he describes the result:

Trenton and Milan received 45 per cent grants from the P. W. A. for construction of school buildings. Their buildings cost about $95,000 each. Humboldt, without P. W. A. assistance, constructed a ten-room colored school building of brick; a two floor industrial building with steam heating plant and sprinkler system, producing an annual rental of $1200 and providing employment; a large elementary school building of solid brick construction, with 18 large class rooms, large cafeteria, auditorium with 800 capacity, complete and furnished except for seats, and got them all for about what the neighbors paid for a single school building with P. W. A. grant.

When election time rolled around last year the town called the board members back for the fifth consecutive term and elected them unanimously. The mayor was re-elected by a large majority."

"It is for each to utter that which he sincerely believes to be true, and add his unit of influence to all other units of influence, and let the results work themselves out."—Spencer. Contributors are urged to confine their articles to 200 words.

Fellow citizens: In a recent "Clearing House" contribution Mr. Henry Weeks wrote rather scathingly of the "vanishing vitality of dying religions." His alliteration is superb but the idea, I think, is sociologically unsound. Present day religion gives no evidence of a loss of vitality; and any modern authority on psychology will tell us that until human nature has undergone some radical revolutionary change religion cannot die, for it is inherent in the very nature of man.

External expressions of the ingrained religious instinct are subject to change, influenced by intelligence, education and environment and Mr. Weeks, in company with many other intelligent observers, has probably mistaken mere modification for final dissolution. If there is any basic truth in the evolutionary theory of life, then the fact that its forms of expression are subject to change would tend to demonstrate rather the vitality of religion.

Few, if any adults retain the same religious concepts that we entertained in childhood; many intensely thrilling narrations we then accepted as strictly, literally true, we now regard as adumbratory types and symbols; and let us trust and pray that our views may continue to change, as evidence that we are still evolving and acquiring more experience and judgment, but not that we are any the less religious. As with individuals, so with the race. The religion of the cave man differed as much from ours as his taste for food, but we have lost neither religion nor appetite, both are inherent in our very natures.

Mr. Weeks did not give a definition of religion. Perhaps he would not accept mine. I hold religion to be an inherent faculty in man which seeks to comprehend and harmonize that quality both in himself and his environments which his reasoning tells him is separate and distinct from material things. Whether such quality is or is not a reality is entirely beside the question. Man believes it is, and until man ceases to believe, religion will not lose its vitality, and up to date normal man has given no evidence that he has ceased to believe.

Robert G. Ingersoll, so far as I know, has never been accused of being ultra reverential. I quote him from memory, but these are substantially his words—"This idea of immortality, which, like a sea has ebbed and flowed in the human heart with its countless waves of hope and fear beating against the shores and rocks of Time and Fate was not born of any book nor of any creed nor of any religion: It was born of the human affections; and it will continue to ebb and flow beneath the mists and clouds of doubt and darkness as long as Love kisses the lips of Death."

At his brother's graveside Mr. Ingersoll said, "In the night of death Hope sees a star and listening Love can hear the rustle of a wing." And until Love ceases to kiss the lips of Death and Hope to search the heavens for some sign of the star, there is but little likelihood that the human race will experience the vanishing vitality of lying religions."

Suppose, however, it should some time be demonstrated (as up to date it has not been) that this mysterious, supernatural

Something, that some of us call God, never has revealed Himself and His purposes to the human race through the agency of any Book or prophet or seer, or even (as I in my superstitious ignorance am so firmly convinced He did) in the person of the Crucified Christ. What then? Will man cease to seek? He will not! For if God is! He may also be a "rewarder of them who diligently seek Him." He may have revealed Himself to the honest persistent investigator in some of the secrets of nature—in the rocks or the plants or perhaps the planets. Even if they have not already done so, the Heavens may yet "declare the glory of God" to intelligence in tune with the infinite. Devout men will continue to delve into geology and biology and astronomy in the hope even faith, of finding Him there.

And until the problem has been solved to man's entire satisfaction he will continue to search, and religion, will live and loose none of its vitality. Have faith Mr. Weeks and fear not: It will never, never die!

LEW BETTS

Fellow Citizens: Loss of the state school funds and exemption of all property save land would necessitate a tremendous increase in the rate of tax.

In the cities that rate would probably go to an average of $20 on the $100 of assessed value. No land except that containing valuable improvements could bear this rate. Other lots and acreage would be forfeited to the state for tax delinquency.

This would remove them from our tax rolls, and thus raise the tax rate higher and higher, causing more and more delinquency and forfeiture.

The segregation of the taxable property of the county as shown by the county auditor sets forth the amount of taxable property in each class for the county as a whole, and for each city and school district. This segregation verifies the conclusions herein. In the city of Santa Ana this amendment would exempt 63% of our tax roll property. Moreover, there is no source of taxation that could be substituted for those to be exempted by the single tax amendment except the pay checks and slender incomes of those who are now exempt from Federal and state income taxes. For the incomes of the rich are already taxed up to 75% and their estates to the point of confiscation.

The adoption of the Single Tax amendment, therefore, would either cripple our schools and lessen social benefits or else raise substitute tax funds from the pay checks and incomes of the lower middle classes and the poor.

Everybody can't make good speeches, on account of some feller talks too much on a don't hardly say nuthin, while other fellers that's had some trainin kin tell all they is to say in just a few minutes, an that's the reason why if yer jest a paperhanger an wanta grow up to be a Dictator you should oughta join one of these here Toastmasters clubs, on account of that's where you find out how to say more and talk less, and that way you kin learn how to tell all about yerself in just only 5 minutes insted of takin a hour an 37 minutes fer the same thing; Ferinstance, when Mr. Hitler made his speech the other day they was another feller on the same program with him, and Hitler would talk a streak fer about 20 minutes and then this other feller would butt in an tell what he said in just a few words, an if Hitler would of let this other feller make the speech in the first place he could of saved a hour and 32 minutes, an had his army clean over into Czechoslovakia insted of jest standin there makin sound effects fer him, on account of all he was tryin to say was "I done this, an I done that, and its ME-Hitler, an all others is fools," and if it hadn't of been for this accomodatinn feller explainin what he said I couldnt of told the difference between him and one of our own labor agitators up on a box yellin "Down with Capital" an tryin to start another strike someplace where they aint one already. But anyways war is averted fer a spell, and it was our President that suggested fer em to have a 4 Power conference to settle the trouble peaceable, and nobody cant say it aint a good idea. The only thing that gets me though is why the Sam Hill does our President wanta send all his good ideas over to Europe fer, and jest only keep the screwy ones here to home, we're the ones that payin him his salary, an we got Power trouble of our own right here, anybody knows we got some Powers runnin around here all over without positively no regard fer their boundries, to say nuthin about our oppressed minority in Industry, an if the President would jest call a 3 Power conference of Capital an Labor an Congress, maybe they could get Ma Perkins an her N. L. R. B. to evacuate peaceable, and cede Industry back to the Industrialists, so's they could have Autonomy an put some men to work.

Here and There

Venus travels an orbit that lies inside that of the earth. Therefore, when she is nearest us, she is directly in line with the sun and we can see only her dark side.

Ice crystals 5 to 10 inches in diameter have been found in the Antarctic.

It has been estimated that 13,500,000 people attend British theaters weekly. For every two who attend, there are three persons who do not.

News Behind The News

WASHINGTON, Sept. 30.—Intelligence sleuths (not U. S.) recently discovered a secret radio station of extraordinary size in the mountain recesses back of Mexico City. It has such tremendous power that no receiving set in Mexico has been able to tune in on its signals.

Investigators have flown over it in planes, but have not been able to identify either its purpose or its activity, both of which have been protected by the secrecy of the Mexican government.

First guess was that it might be Japanese, but this assumption proved to be erroneous. The Mexicans are having no traffic with the Japs. But they have Trotsky and they are very close and congenial with Loyalist Spain, whose messages have reached other congenial parts of the world.

Interest in the station is high within officialdom here in view of the stiff Cardenas policy of confiscation of American, British and Mexican properties.

Dies committee is having difficulty making itself understood again.

From a recent hearing word went out that a committee investigator had charged certain unnamed American industrialists with backing Hitler's German-American bundling business in this country. That is the way it sounded to news-men a few feet away. But the record will quote the witness as saying he only heard the names of a few industrialists mentioned as being sympathetic at bund meetings.

Inside on it is the investigator heard only two names mentioned. One was a large manufacturer who accepted an honorary decoration from the German government as was published in all the papers at the time. The other was head of a well known anti-Communist patriotic organization here whose only industry is publication of a weekly news-letter.

Note—Dies committee witnesses are not rehearsed, are permitted to blather whatever is in their minds, and this does not always come out straight in words.

It is possible now to forecast definitely what the Dies committee will recommend to congress to curb un-American activities. Hearings have progressed far enough for the investigators to have made up their minds. They will demand:

1. Some form of federal regulation of these front organizations, (both Fascist and Communist) which will require public reports on their standing and personnel. (All they have to do now is to plank down a small local charter fee.)

2. A bill to institute a federal charter system for such organizations which will give the state department or some other bureau a restraining influence over their organization and finances. (Committee-men will report some of the money raised for Spain never got there.)

3. Revision of the labor department regulations to tighten issuance of temporary immigration permits. Foreign citizens come in on temporary permits and remain for years through renewals.

4. A law requiring naturalized citizens to restrain from subversive activities under penalty of deportation.

YOU AND YOUR Nation's Affairs Germany: An Object Lesson

By ELIOT JONES

It would be well for those who are losing their faith in democracy to understand the situation as it has developed in Germany which abandoned democracy, and substituted dictatorship.

The objective of Nazism is national strength and world leadership, and these are to be realized through a large population a vast territory and a huge, well-trained army. The whole population is being enlisted in the carrying out of this program, the front is becoming co-extensive with the nation. The individual citizen is no longer free to live his own life, he has become a mere cuse in a vast war machine. This means of course, a fundamental change in the economic structure of the country.

To attain a commanding position in the military world is regarded as essential to make Germany reasonably self-sufficient a very difficult task in view of the fact that at least two-fifths of its raw materials come from other countries. The realization of this objective requires of course the limitation of imports in goods that can not be produced at home and the encouragement of exports by subsidies so as to obtain the means of paying for essential imports. The measures taken by the government to realize its aims have given it practically a monopoly of its foreign trade.

The distribution of raw materials is subject to thoroughgoing control consumption quotas for certain raw materials being established by control boards. Entrepreneurs who wish to establish new enterprises must ascertain in advance whether they will be able to get raw materials.

Property rights are no longer protected. For example, farmers who do not observe the government program may be dispossessed; and their lands may not be sold without government approval.

The believer in democracy finds it difficult indeed to believe that a people thus regimented will be able to maintain that position of leadership in world affairs which German leaders of today envisage.
